NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The stock market drifted lower today on selling inspired by the bearish commission house advices and the growing uneasiness over the possibility of an early increase in Federal Reserve discount rates. Early losses of 3 to nearly 12 points in the active issues were cut down, and in a few cases made up, in the mid-day rally, but the higher prices failed to hold and the market turned soft again in the early afternoon.

Express, amusement and power and light issues took turns in the late trading in promoting another rally which showed some stocks materially above the preceding close. American Express gained 11 points, American and Foreign Power 4, American Railway Express 4 and Warner Brothers 4 points. Adams Express advanced 4 points to 41. Speculative selling was renewed before the close, however, and both American Railway Express and Warner Brothers finished 1 1/2 points net down.

BILL TO INCREASE DRY ACT PENALTIES BEFORE SENATE

Measure Provides for Fines Up to $10,000 and Maximum Term of Five Years—Backed by Mrs. Willebrandt.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Preferred status on the Senate calendar has been given by the Republican Steering Committee to a bill drastically increasing the maximum penalties under the Volstead act, and it was taken under consideration by the Senate this afternoon.

The bill was introduced by Senator Jones, (Rep.), Washington, whip of the Senate and a dry leader, and it has been favorably reported by the Judiciary Committee, it has been endorsed by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, as the Attorney-General in charge of prohibition cases; by Commissioner of the Prohibition Bureau, and by the Anti-Saloon League and other dry organizations.

If the bill is passed, it will be possible for judges in criminal cases under the dry laws to assess a fine ranging as high as $10,000 or a prison sentence of not more than five years, or both. These penalties could be given for "each offense," which means the first as well as the subsequent offenses.

Maximum Now Is $1000.
As the law now stands, the maximum punishment for a first offense for the illegal manufacture or sale of liquor is a fine of $1000, or imprisonment for not more than six months. In cases aside from those involving manufacture and sale, the penalty for a first offense is a fine of not more than $500.

"These penalties," said the Judiciary Committee in reporting the bill, "are adequate when the commercial element is not present, but they are absolutely inadequate when applied to professional bootleggers and other large-scale operators. The amendment should not operate harshly upon the casual violator."

Mrs. Willebrandt told the Committee that her experience had convinced her of the need for higher penalties.

Prosecutions on Other Laws.
"As a result of the inadequacy of the penalty which the Volstead act provides," she said, "prosecutors have been led to resort to prosecutions under other laws whenever they could. They have resorted to the old internal revenue laws relating to the evasion of various kinds of liquor taxes, and the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the use of these old laws."

"The other statute that they have popularly resorted to for grave, widespread violations of the liquor laws is the conspiracy statute, section 37 of the penal code. In my estimation, section 37 has been strained beyond all reach in grinding liquor law prosecutions under it."

COOLIDGE ASKS FUND FOR RETREAT FOR PRESIDENTS

Recommends $48,000 Appropriation to Remodel Meteorological Station on Mt. Weather, Va.

HEARINGS TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

Proposal Will Be Included in Deficiency Bill, Thus Insuring Action at Present Session.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—In a special message to the House yesterday President Coolidge recommended the appropriation of $48,000 for remodeling the Weather Bureau station at Mount Weather, Va., into a country retreat for President. Mr. Coolidge first advanced the suggestion for a rural home for Presidents in his letter published in the fiftieth anniversary addition of the Post-Dispatch, Dec. 3, last.

He said that, from his own experience, he had learned the necessity of getting away now and then from the low altitude and the heat of Washington. His suggestion was received with widespread approval by the country and several bills were introduced in the House and Senate for the establishment of such a country place.

The recommendation for the appropriation of $48,000 was referred to the House Appropriations Committee and will be included in the next general deficiency appropriations bill, thus insuring action by the present session of Congress.

Hearings on the recommendation will be held this week or early next week, members of the Appropriations Committee said today. Col. U. S. Grant, chairman of the Public Buildings and Public Parks of the capital, who would have jurisdiction over the retreat, will be the principal witness. Other witnesses will be officials of the Weather Bureau.

It also will be necessary for Congress to authorize the transfer of supervision of the land and buildings at Mount Weather from the Department of Agriculture to the office of Public Buildings and Grounds.

The request of the President was countered in the Senate today by a move to appoint a commission to study the situation before funds are provided. The Senate Public Buildings Committee assembled and favorably reported the bill of Senator Ross (Rep.), Ohio, for a commission to study the question.

Would Call for Investigation.
The bill would authorize the appointment of a commission to "investigate and report to Congress as to the advisability of establishing a location convenient and accessible to the city of Washington, a country summer White House for use by the President of the United States."

Mount Weather is 61 miles from Washington. It has an elevation of approximately 1800 feet and overlooks the Shenandoah Valley to the west and the Goose Creek or Loudon Valley to the east. The old Weather Bureau station, which was abandoned in 1915, is at the exact top of Mount Weather. Col. Grant said the $48,000 would be used in remodeling the old administration building and furnishing it.

President-elect Hoover, before his departure for Florida, visited several places in Virginia to pick a site for a fishing camp. While he has not specifically indicated the Mount Weather site, he said he favored the idea of a country retreat for Presidents.

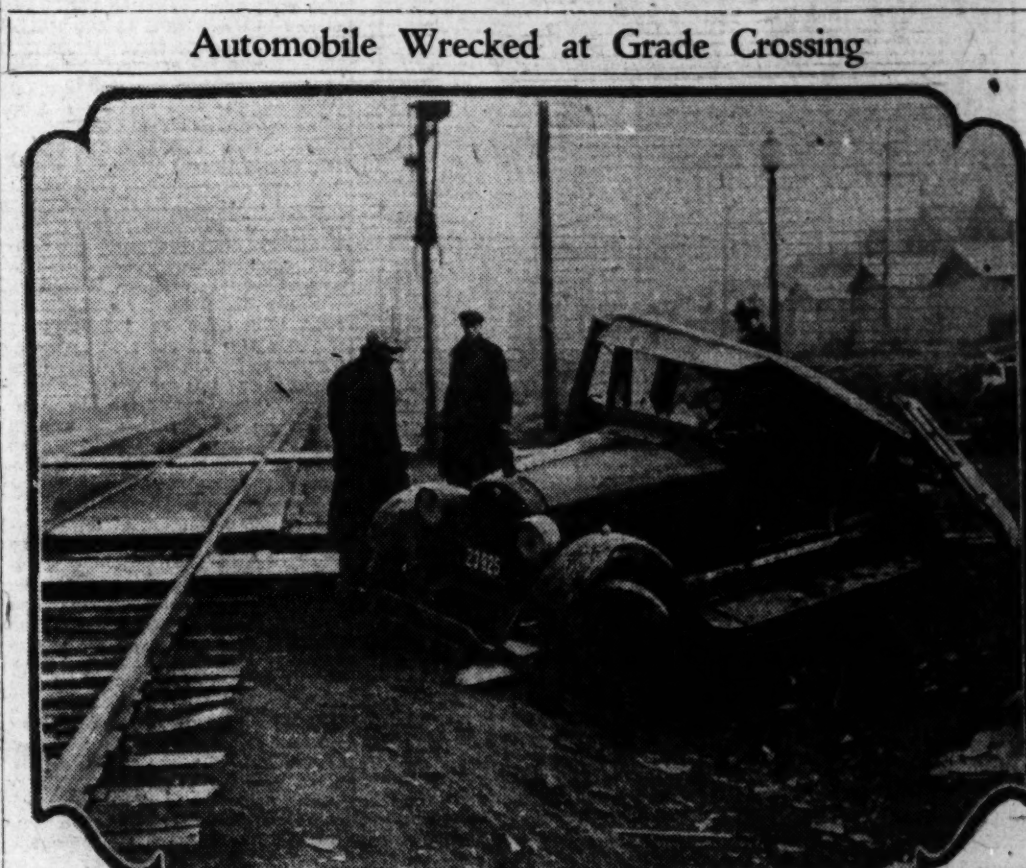

Acts for His Successor.
Mr. Coolidge, in acting at this time, was moved by the desire to do everything possible for the health and comfort of his successor. The remodeling of Mount Weather into a presidential home would make it possible for the President to leave Washington for a week-end outing at any time with the assurance of finding ample facilities for himself and his staff in a secluded and healthful locality.

It would not, of course, keep him from establishing a separate hunting and fishing camp elsewhere, if he should care to do so, nor would it preclude trips to distant parts of the country such as Mr. Coolidge has been accustomed to take in summer.

In making his original recommendation, the President said it was desirable that the head of the Government should stay for a few weeks at a time in different sections of the country.

The publication of the country house idea in the Post-Dispatch evoked a highly favorable response

HAY SEEKS STIFF LEGISLATION TO CURB PAY-BUYERS

He Will Urge Repeal of Measure Permitting High Interest Rates Before Senate Committee.

When Charles M. Hay appears before the Senate Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence at Jefferson City tonight to argue for the repeal of the small loan law legalizing an interest charge of 3 1/2 per cent a month or 42 per cent a year on loans of $300 or less, he will contend that the law does not accomplish the suppression of the wage or salary buying form of loan operation, which was one of the principal reasons for the law advanced by the Russell Sage Foundation, its sponsor.

Hay, who was Democratic nominee for United States Senator last fall and who represents A. J. Dickert, general chairman of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway Clerks' Association, will call attention to the fact that the law as enacted in Missouri in 1927 did not contain the so-called anti-wage buying section.

He will argue that in order to have been effective in suppressing the salary-buying loan sharks the law should have contained that provision, which has been included in some other States and been upheld by the courts, notably in Maryland.

Without the anti-wage buying action, Hay will argue, the law adds no additional force to the general statutes against usury already in effect and under which the charging of more than 8 per cent interest for any loan, with certain exceptions, is illegal.

Hay will argue for repeal of the small loan law and enactment of a strong statute that will effectively curb all kinds of high interest profits. The Post-Dispatch has sought to learn from persons interested in the support of the law in 1927 why the anti-wage buying section was omitted.

A report that two groups representing large interests engaged respectively in salary buying and money lending under the terms of the small loan act had entered into a working agreement to omit the anti-wage buying section from the act as drafted, for presentation in Missouri and other States, was investigated. A man who said he was present when this agreement was adopted gave the Post-Dispatch what he asserted were the terms of the agreement.

Senator Casey of Kansas City, who introduced the measure, was asked why the section was omitted.

REPORT ON MUSCLE SHOALS BILL IS CALLED ILLEGAL

Military Affairs Committee Chairman Compares Meeting to Rump Convention.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—A meeting of members of the House Military Affairs Committee, which Chairman Morin declared was a regular and valid meeting, today ordered favorably reported the Madden bill to lease Muscle Shoals to the American Cyanamid Co. for 50 years.

Chairman Morin said that the meeting was similar to a "rump convention." He declared that no meeting had been called and that he understood a group of supporters of the bill met and found themselves with a quorum and proceeded to report the bill out. He said that if the members insisted upon claiming that the measure was properly approved he would file a protest with the speaker.

The committee recently refused to accept a motion to report out the Madden bill without recommendation.

ARRESTED AFTER DRIVING THROUGH CROSSING GATE

Paul A. Petty, 9556 Sarah street, St. Louis County, was arrested last night after he had driven his automobile across the Missouri Pacific tracks at Broadway and Tesson street just ahead of a passenger train and crashed through the south crossing gate.

The north gate had previously been broken by another automobile. Police said a warning bell was ringing. Petty said he neither heard a bell nor saw the south gate lowered. The gate was damaged $10 and Petty's car $10.

SERVICE CAR DRIVER HURT AT CROSSING

Mo.-Pac. Train Hits Auto at Wilmington Av., Where Four Have Been Killed.

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

August Wehman, a service car driver, 4145 California avenue, was seriously injured at 5:50 p. m. yesterday when his sedan was struck by a passenger train at a crossing at Wilmington avenue and the Missouri Pacific tracks at which four persons lost their lives in a similar accident in 1926. The crossing is protected only by an automatic gong.

While waiting for an ambulance to take him to City Hospital, Wehman told persons who carried him from his demolished machine to a nearby store that he did not hear the warning gong and that he thought it was not operating. He said he failed to see the train because the headlight of the locomotive was not lighted.

Wehman was crossing the double tracks from the west when the train, southbound, struck the rear portion of the machine.

The train, an "accommodation," consisting of locomotive and two coaches bound for Southeast Missouri, was stopped and the crew returned to the crossing. At the hospital physicians found that Wehman had suffered a fractured right hip and head injuries.

Four members of one family were killed and a fifth member of the family was seriously injured when their machine was struck by the same train on the evening of June 13, 1926. Those who lost their lives were Mrs. Margaret Burke, 55 years old, her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Hamble, 32; Mrs. Hamble's daughter, Margaret, 8 years old, and Mrs. Burke's son-in-law, Clem D. Horn, 36 years old.

Horn's wife, Mrs. Ella Horn, a second daughter of Mrs. Burke, was seriously injured, but recovered. Mrs. Burke and the Horns and Hamble families occupied a flat at 4873 Kosuth avenue.

The crossing is in the Holly Hill residential district and, following the fatal accident in 1926, residents of the neighborhood have an unsuccessful effort to have safety gates installed and a watchman posted at the crossing.

Automobile traffic on Wilmington avenue is heavy, due to the fact that it is the only thoroughfare from the east. A number of the neighborhood have safety gates installed and a watchman posted at the crossing.

Victims Members of George Moran's North Side Faction—Assassins Posed as Law Officers.

6 TO 10 WOUNDS ON EACH BODY

Slayers Apparently Surprised a Meeting in Liquor Headquarters in Clark Street Garage.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Seven members of the North Side gang of George (Bugs) Moran were lined up against a wall and shot and killed today by members of another gang posing as police officers, that invaded Moran's North Side headquarters. After forcing the men to raise their hands, the invading gangsters shot them down.

The bodies of the victims were found in the rear room of the S. M. C. Carriage Co., 2122 North Clark street, by police who had been called by a woman living near by. She was apparently the only person to hear the reports of the sawed-off shotguns and sub-machine guns of the slayers.

Assassins Displayed Stars.
The Moran gang headquarters in two large automobiles. They rushed into the carriage company's quarters, displaying stars and ordering the occupants to raise their hands. Apparently the slayers then herded their victims into a rear room and, lining them up against a wall with hands above their heads, opened fire.

The bodies, just as they had fallen, were found by policemen ranged along the bullet-marked wall.

Every body, bore from six to 10 bullet wounds. From the appearance of the carriage company's offices, the raiders apparently swooped down with the intention of killing everybody in the place and deliberately saw to it that their shots took effect.

List of Dead and Wounded.
The list of dead and wounded as given out by the police follows: Peter Guseberg, gang leader, Frank Guseberg, his brother, Al Weinsahak, soft drink parlor owner.

John May, a mechanic. James Clark, brother-in-law of Moran.

Two other men, variously identified as Arthur Hay, Arthur Davis and Frank Foster, Moran gangsters.

Today's killing brought to the total of gang slayings here in the last few years more than 125.

The building is a garage and contained several automobiles. The bodies lay in an open space clear of the machines.

Police viewed the killings as a new outbreak of bootlegging hostilities, but were unable to guess who the assailants were.

HERRIN MAYOR DENIES HE TOOK LIQUOR GRAFT

Marshall McCormack on Trial Accuses One of Prosecuting Witnesses of Bribe-Taking.

OTHER DEFENDANTS ALSO TAKE STAND

Alvin Misker Who Pleaded Guilty Gives Evidence for Government — Both Sides Rest.

Mayor Marshall McCormack Chief of Police John Stamm and Elmer McCormack, policemen and brother of the Mayor, all of Herrin, Ill., testified in their own defense today in Federal Court at East St. Louis, denying charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law.

The defense rested at 4 p. m. after offering but few witnesses besides the defendants. Alvin Misker, water superintendent, originally named as co-defendant, had turned Government witness during the morning session and testified against the Mayor.

McCormack entered specific denials of the Government's charges that he had taken protection bribes from bootleggers and associated with Birger gangsters, denying that he was acquainted with Charlie Birger and his men during the years of the alleged offenses, 1926 and 1927.

He declared that he had forced the resignation of George Griffith, former Chief of Police and a Government witness when he learned that Griffith was taking bribes from bootleggers and saloonkeepers.

Former U. S. Deputy Marshal. McCormack said he was 35 years old and had been in turn with minor United States Deputy Marshall, a member of the Ku Klux Klan and a grocer and now was serving his second term as Mayor at a salary of $180 a month.

In 1927, he testified, he closed his grocery store and returned to the mines, but was unable, under cross-examination, to give dates on which he worked as a miner.

Assistant United States Attorney Lesemann shot his finger at the Mayor and demanded that the "name one date when you did not enforce the prohibition law." McCormack replied hesitantly, "Well, we raided places and people were fined."

Lesemann also asked if the Mayor, at a gathering of salesmen, had not presented to the visitors a large and ornate corkscrew, remarking: "Gentlemen, this town is wide open." McCormack admitted presenting the corkscrew but denied the remark.

Police Chief Testifies. Chief of Police John Stamm, a co-defendant, also denied the charges on the witness stand and recited a list of liquor raids he had executed during his term of office which began in December, 1926. Under cross-examination, he admitted he remained inactive in the case while a bartender accepted blame in a liquor case and paid a fine to protect his employer.

Misker, who pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday, testified that he collected protection bribes for Mayor McCormack, making monthly visits to numerous bootleggers and saloonkeepers of Herrin. He turned the money over to Mayor McCormack, he said, and received part of it for himself.

He provoked laughter when he related that an Italian bootlegger on one occasion in 1927 paid his water bill and protection fee in one check. "I went to him," Misker related, "and told him the bill was too big, that there must be a leak somewhere. He said, 'Oh, that's just the money for protection.'"

Says McCormack Refused Plea. Misker, a mild-mannered young man of about 29 years, dressed in a blue shirt and a light tan suit, told the jury that he had asked Mayor McCormack to assume responsibility at the trial because of Misker's wife and children. McCormack refused, he said.

The Government rested at 10:30 a. m. after Sheriff Owen Coleman of Williamson County had testified that Mayor McCormack failed to co-operate in the Sheriff's activity against liquor law violators during 1927, without consulting the Mayor, he had made numerous raids in Herrin and found saloons running openly with liquor in plain view and gambling equipment. Once, he said, Mayor McCormack gave him a list of residences where beer was sold and suggested that they be raided. Coleman said he complained that there were bigger places and requested no answer from the Mayor.

C. M. Hay Seeks Stiffer Law Against Loan Sharks

He said he did not know anything about it. He did not draft the bill and he had no recollection of anything having been said about an anti-wage buying section, he added.

He Gives No Clue.

Bernard Greenfelder, St. Louis attorney, who was chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee which introduced the bill except for the interest rate, was asked about it. He said that so far as he could recall the anti-wage buying section was not discussed by his committee and he had no information as to why it was omitted from the draft.

The Better Business Bureau of St. Louis, which is serving on a campaign against illegal money lending and which has in its membership a number of the companies engaged in the 42 per cent business, took the position that the anti-wage buying section should have been in the law. Dwight L. Holmes, manager of the financial department of the bureau, said he wished the law contained that particular section; but he said he did not know why it had not been included in the act.

Leon Henderson of New York City, manager of the remedial loans department of the Russell Sage Foundation, said his organization, with suggestions from interested persons in St. Louis and Kansas City, drafted the measure as introduced in Missouri. He said the anti-wage buying section was left out because there was some question about its constitutionality.

In a letter to the Post-Dispatch Henderson said with reference to the omission of the anti-wage buying section:

"I felt that the salary buyers were not afraid of any small loan bill if it did not have section 16 (the anti-wage buying section). The Maryland decision was the only one that had gone against them and at the time they were operating in at least 12 States having uniform laws. Considering the doubts as to the constitutionality, it seemed good strategy to omit the section for the time being. I still think it was a good move. All the strategy should not be on one side."

Three States Aid Plan. "Since 1927, section 16 has been added to the small loan laws of Louisiana, New York and Virginia and the salary buyers have been prosecuted under it in New York and Virginia. It is effective. We are recommending it to every State, including Missouri."

No amendment has been introduced to incorporate the section in the Missouri law, but Rolf Nugent of the Russell Sage Foundation, who was in St. Louis today on his way to Jefferson City, said he would submit such an amendment to the committee.

The statement concerning an alleged working agreement by which the section was to be left out of the act in Missouri, and the salary buyers in return were not to oppose the bill, was given by R. D. Ison of Atlanta, Ga., a salary buyer, who declared he was present and took part in the meeting which was held at Atlantic City, N. J., June 26, 1925. Ison exhibited a faded and worn typewritten sheet which he said was the original copy of the agreement given to him at the meeting.

Text of Agreement. Following is the text of this purported agreement as given by Ison:

"Atlantic City, June 26, 1925.

"The following program in its entirety (to) subject to the consent of the Foundation.

"The wage buyers will not seek to amend any existing small loan law or otherwise disturb existing conditions in States covered by comprehensive small loan laws.

"The lenders will not institute any legislation directed at wage buyers and particularly will not introduce the so-called anti-wage buyers section in any State and will oppose the passage (remainder of sentence illegible).

"The wage buyers will do everything possible to assist the lenders in passing the uniform small loan law without the new wage-buying section in Missouri, Wisconsin and Kentucky, specifically, at the next legislative sessions thereof, and in North Carolina and such other States as may be named by mutual consent from time to time.

"The wage buyers particularly call attention to the fact that the situation is very difficult in Kentucky and success is not assured."

"The situation in Georgia will have to be worked out between the individual members of both groups particularly interested, in accordance with the second and third paragraphs (sic) above, both affirmatively and defensively."

"The wage buyers will not attack the existing law by any method in West Virginia and Maryland in which States they are not interested."

"In Tennessee there is pending litigation which will have to take its course, and which is not involved in this program, whatever action is taken by either group."

Pledge of Wage Buyers.

"In Michigan if the above program is all approved by the Foundation, the wage buyers will not attack the new wage-buying section of the Michigan law in the courts and they will not attempt to repeal that section in the Legislature unless it is certain that such attempt would not be successful. If any other section of the Michigan law (and will abandon such attempt if it seems dangerous to any other section of the law) and the Foundation will not contest such an attempted repeal."

"The above program will be submitted to the Foundation in the best possible light at the November conference, or as much sooner as seems expedient, having in mind the fact that the wage buyers must attempt their repeal, if at all, at the Michigan special session to commence in the early fall of 1925, and also having in mind the fact that the Michigan law becomes effective Aug. 27, 1925."

Ison stated that wherever "Foundation" was used in the memorandum he understood it referred to the Russell Sage Foundation which has sponsored the uniform small loan law. There was no representative of the Foundation at the conference, he said. He said he did not know what action, if any, was taken by the Foundation subsequent to this purported agreement.

Leon Henderson said the Russell Sage Foundation had no knowledge of any such agreement and would not have sanctioned it if it had known of it.

Nine Men Named.

In his statement Ison named nine men who he said attended the conference at Atlantic City. He also named the man he said reduced the agreement to written form and distributed typewritten copies of the memorandum, one of which he has.

The anti-wage buying section referred to in the purported agreement is known in drafts of the small loan act as section 16. The text of this section as revised Nov. 22, 1924, is:

"The payment of three hundred dollars ($300) or less in money, credit, goods or things in action, as a consideration for any sale, or other assignment of wages, salary, commissions or other compensation services, whether earned or to be earned, shall be deemed a loan secured by such assignment, and the amount by which such assigned compensation exceeds such payment shall be deemed interest upon such loan from the date of such payment to the date such compensation is payable. Such loan and such assignment shall be governed by and subject the provisions of this act."

Ison said that at the time the

MISSOURI HOUSE PASSES ROAD ACTS FOR $158,000,000

Quickly Adopts Measures Already Voted On by Senate—Bills Now Go to Governor.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 14.—The road bond enabling acts were passed in quick time by the House today, ending the fight for scientific expenditures of the $75,000,000 road bond money and surplus revenues, the two making a total of approximately $158,000,000.

With only two negative votes, the House passed the bills, which had been passed by the Senate, and now all that remains to make them effective is the signature of Gov. Campbell. It is expected the bills will reach the Governor's desk late this afternoon or early tomorrow. When the House reached the road bills as a special order of business shortly after 11 o'clock, Chairman Wingo of the Committee on Roads and Highways submitted a favorable report from the Committee on the Senate bills, and to expedite the legislation, moved that they be substituted for the House bills and placed on final passage.

With the exception of Representative Duboise of Texas County and Lawson of Ozark County, all of the group which had supported the substitute, which would have taken $40,000,000 arbitrarily for the building of local roads, and who were defeated in the House a week ago, supported the bill in the House today.

Both bills carried emergency clauses and these will be in effect as soon as signed by the Governor. The Highway Department, it has been announced, will begin preparations immediately for the expenditure of at least $20,000,000 of the money this year, practically all going toward the completion of the State highway system as now laid out. Before the actual issuance of the bonds a friendly test suit will be instituted in the Supreme Court to establish without question of the validity of the bonds.

BORGUM GETS HIS JOB BACK

Will Return to Finish Carving on Stone Mountain.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 14.—Gutzon Borgum, the sculptor, said here yesterday he would return to Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, Ga., to complete the carving of the Confederate Memorial from which he was dismissed in 1925. Borgum disclosed that the Stone Mountain Confederate Monument Association had been urging him to take charge again of the gigantic frieze that is being chiseled out of the side of Stone Mountain. Negotiations, he said, are practically completed.

A purported agreement was adopted the two groups, salary buyers and small loan lenders, were working in harmony and that the purpose of the agreement was the continuation of that tenuous arrangement. But since then, he said, misunderstandings have arisen and in some sections there is open hostility between the two groups.

MEXICAN OFFICER FOUND DEAD AFTER GOING TO ARREST PRIEST

Churchman Said to Have Disappeared; Soldiers Enter House and Discover Body.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—A dispatch to El Universal from the state of Coahuila says that Lieutenant-Colonel Villarreal of the garrison there was found dead today after going to a house to arrest a priest charged with violation of the religious laws.

The dispatch said that Villarreal entered the house while a squad of his soldiers remained outside. When he did not return, the men entered and found him dead.

Several women living in a nearby house were arrested while police began a search for the priest, who was said to have disappeared. The priest's name was given as Maduro. The dispatches did not say how Villarreal was killed.

trucks and to one side a small square formed by an abutment in the wall. It was in this place against a white wall and beneath an overhead light that the men were lined up and shot down.

Police began a search for a man known as Marinello, said to have been the owner of the garage, when neighbors reported that he was present during the murder and apparently had escaped unhurt.

Police received reports that Moran himself had been wounded. One man said he saw a man stagger from the building apparently wounded in the face. The police were uncertain whether this may have been Moran, one of his gang, or one of the assassins who was struck by a ricocheting bullet.

Two women reported to have been in the building at the time of the killing were arrested and taken to a police station for questioning.

Some one telephoned to the garage, police learned, to ask whether or not the killers entered, hanging up the receiver as soon as an affirmative reply was given. The police viewed this as a means by which the assassins made sure all their intended victims were present before they entered.

William F. Russell, Commissioner of Police, Dr. Herman N. Bunson, County Coroner, and Harry Stansbury, Assistant State's Attorney, were on the scene within a few minutes and took charge of the investigation.

"This is the end of gangland in Chicago," Russell declared as he looked at the bodies. "It's a war to the death now and no quarter given."

All victims were well dressed. In their pockets of one police found $800 and most of them wore expensive watches and jewelry.

Apparently there were five men in the invading gang of murderers. The five were seen to leave the garage after the shooting, making no attempt to conceal their weapons. One man said he saw the men emerge from the building, that they were carrying their weapons in their hands and proceeding without any hurry. He said they were talking to each other. He said the five climbed into a car at the curb, stowed their guns in the rear and drove away.

YEARLY UPKEEP OF PLANE CARRIERS $2,500,000 EACH

Lexington and Saratoga Built at Expense of $86,000,000, Are Navy's White Elephants.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The first year's service of the new navy aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga, has revealed such a tremendous cost of upkeep that the Government plans to take them out of commission as soon as they can be replaced with newer ships, which means that one of them probably will be withdrawn from service two years hence.

The existence of this astonishing situation, recently hinted at during a debate in the House, was confirmed today by Representative Burton L. French, chairman of the House subcommittee which handles all naval appropriations and also by the Navy Department.

The Lexington and Saratoga were the costliest ships ever built for the United States navy. They were put in commission in November, 1927, and the construction cost of each was approximately $43,000,000. Their useful life was estimated then to be in the neighborhood of 20 years. During recent hearings on naval supply bills, members of the House Appropriations Committee were shocked to learn that the cost of operating each carrier would be more than $2,500,000 a year. This is nearly twice the cost of operating a first-class battleship and more than three times the cost of operating a cruiser.

The construction of another aircraft carrier is authorized in the cruiser bill which became a law with President Coolidge's signature yesterday. This carrier is expected to be ready for service in about two years and the plan, French said, is to take the Lexington out of commission as soon as the new carrier is completed. Meanwhile, the naval program contemplates the authorization of four additional carriers, probably at the next session of Congress, and as soon as one of these is finished, it is planned to withdraw the Saratoga.

Why the Lexington and Saratoga have turned out to be the biggest white elephants in American naval history has not been made wholly clear but the fact that they were originally designed for another purpose appears to be largely responsible.

They were laid down as battle cruisers. While construction was under way the Washington Armsament treaty was signed, limiting the United States in that class of ships. The Navy, bent upon completing the vessels in one form or another, obtained permission to convert them into aircraft carriers. According to present ideas of design, the Lexington and Saratoga of 33,000 tons each, are fantastically out of proportion.

EDWARD J. HIGGINS ELECTED HEAD OF SALVATION ARMY

High Council Chooses Former Aid to Gen. Booth Successor to Current Leader.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—The Salvation Army has a new commander-in-chief—its former commander, Edward J. Higgins of England. The immediate future of the Army, however, seems to depend upon the actions of its proposed head, Gen. Bramwell Booth, sister of Gen. Booth, who is in the day of Gen. Booth's death, because of his health, to continue at his post.

Gen. Booth has already been in adjudication as unfit to be commander of England and there is no indication he will not do so again. Some London newspapers are predicting that he will continue his Chancery Court action challenging the validity of the deed of 1904, under which the high council functioned.

Gen. Higgins was Gen. Booth's chief lieutenant for the last decade. In 1896 he was made Colonel, and was appointed chief secretary in the United States, where he served nine years under Gen. Booth. He was a member of the high council of the Army, and was one of the men who fell in France in the graves of their dead there.

The measure introduced in House today by Representatives Wooda, Hohl, Blair, Bamber, and Case, proposes to virtually double State revenues, primarily carry out the program of increasing educational facilities advocated by the State Teachers' Association.

The measure proposes that revenues be increased from approximately $24,000,000 for two-year period to approximately $48,000,000 and that of the more than one-half, or 55 per cent, be devoted to public schools instead of the present one-third.

The bill would accomplish more important tax rates, trebling a third rate.

Through a proposed doubling of the income tax rate, making it two per cent, instead of one per cent, from that source revenue would be increased to $14,000,000, something like $14,000,000.

Through a doubling of the corporate franchise tax rate, making it one-tenth of one per cent, capital stock and surplus of corporations, the revenue from source would be increased to $14,000,000.

Trebling the tax rate on real estate and personal property, from 15 cents on the $100 valuation, instead of five cents, revenue from this source would be increased to approximately $14,000,000.

The State Tax Commission estimated that under present conditions the general revenue fund of the State for 1923 and 1924 will receive approximately $24,000,000.

Under the present arrangement to public schools, one-third of the estimated revenue, the schools would receive approximately $8,000,000 from State aid during two years. Under the bill, the schools would receive an amount of 55 per cent of the increased revenues, would receive approximately $14,000,000.

The Lee program would provide approximately $20,000,000 from general revenue fund of the State for the support of the State government, exclusive of school aid, of approximately $14,000,000, which the Tax Commission estimates will be available under the new rates.

Members of the Special Committee, which is attempting to work out a budget system of general revision of the State system, are not inclined to discuss the demands of the educational interests of the State.

General said they would wait until the bill was introduced and an opportunity was afforded to study it.

Opinion of Senate Leader. One of the Senate leaders, who said that while he did not wish to be quoted at this time, it was his opinion the program would meet with favor at this Legislature.

"That looks like too big a tax," he said. "We are of course, that more revenue be obtained and that the schools, as well as the State, and the elementary and secondary schools must be given better support by the State. The program, however, is a big one and we must not grab any radical idea that is particularly lines of education."

"I would be more inclined to let the Legislature study the program and make appropriations for the present rates, and that will be no immediate increase in taxation."

Superintendent of Schools Lee Sponsors Bill to Increase Missouri's Educational Facilities.

SEEKS $14,000,000 ON INCOMES ALONE

Increase From Corporate Franchise and Real Estate Schedules Would Make Total $45,000,000

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 14.—The most extensive program gestured thus far for increasing education in Missouri is contained in a bill introduced in the State Department of Education, under the direction of State Superintendent of Schools Lee.

The measure introduced in House today by Representatives Wooda, Hohl, Blair, Bamber, and Case, proposes to virtually double State revenues, primarily carry out the program of increasing educational facilities advocated by the State Teachers' Association.

The measure proposes that revenues be increased from approximately $24,000,000 for two-year period to approximately $48,000,000 and that of the more than one-half, or 55 per cent, be devoted to public schools instead of the present one-third.

FIRST PAYMENT ON 80 ACRES IS MADE BY UNIVERSITY CITY

Tract in West Part of Suburb Will Be Fourth of Public Parks Under Bond Issue.

Initial payments have been made on most of an 80-acre tract in western University City for the first fourth of the public parks project for which the suburban city voted a $450,000 bond issue last November.

The tract, roughly rectangular in shape, is 1300 feet wide and 2850 feet long, its length lying east and west. It touches on McKnight and Old Bottom roads and Groley avenue, and Walden avenue is to be extended to it. The site is a half mile east of North and South roads and the same distance south of Olive Street road.

Purchase price was not disclosed, but city officials said it was planned to devote about a fourth of bond issue funds to purchase and development of this park. The tract was part of the Jacob Klein estate. Negotiations have been concluded with all the interested heirs except one, and first payments made on about 65 acres, but arrangements still are pending with one heir controlling about 15 acres.

S. PESSL

of VIENNA and BUDAPEST—head of the famous House of Pessl, beauty advisors to the aristocracy for over 100 years—
advises this one way to skin beauty

This celebrated expert emphasizes the importance of washing for beauty and warns against the ill-effects of soaps not specially made to retain the bloom of a good complexion.

"I earnestly recommend to my clients that they use only the soap blended of palm and olive oils. The use of Palmolive is especially important because its gentle action leaves the skin in a healthy, smooth, normal condition which is the very foundation of a beautiful complexion."

S. Pessl
VIENNA I,
KARLSTERNSTRASSE 28

S. PESSL, head of the celebrated House of Pessl, which has ministered to the beauty needs of Royalty for over 100 years. Monsieur Pessl is court hair-dresser today, and has as patrons the Ex-Empress of Austria and many of the Queens of Europe.

In gay Vienna, where the women are enchanting; in romantic Budapest, on the Danube—there is one name in beauty culture which has been recognized for over a hundred years—the name of Pessl!

Today, in the celebrated shop across from the opera in Vienna, S. Pessl carries on the tradition of the Pessl name. The crowned heads to which he has ministered are evidenced by the royal crests he is authorized to display above the windows of his typically Viennese shop.

To his select patrons, Pessl recommends a very simple treatment for retaining youthful loveliness . . . the same treatment advised by the outstanding beauty specialists of Paris, Berlin, Rome, London, Geneva—everywhere.

Palm and olive oils in soap

"I should naturally have been led, by my knowledge of the complexion effects of palm and olive oils," says S. Pessl, "to have invented a soap made exclusively from them."

"As these oils are already combined in Palmolive Soap," Monsieur Pessl explains, "I earnestly recommend to my patrons that they use only this soap. Its gentle action cleans the skin thoroughly and, at the same time, leaves it in a healthy, smooth, normal condition which is the very foundation of a beautiful complexion."

The famous "international" treatment for a lovely skin

The poisonous and dangerous secretions of dirt and dust, of make-up and cream which find their way deep into the pores must be removed. Palm and olive oils, as they are blended in Palmolive Soap, act to soften the skin, to cleanse the pores, to refresh the natural coloring.

To get the utmost benefit from Palmolive Soap, you are urged by all the experts to follow this treatment, twice a day: with both hands make a rich lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Massage it gently into the skin, permitting it to penetrate the pores, to free them of all impurities. Then rinse, first with warm water, later cold. An ice massage is invigorating.

M. Pessl's advice is echoed by such famous specialists as Lina Cavalieri, of Paris; Elise Bock, of Berlin; Bertha Jacobson, of London. Wherever women seek the best skin care they are told: wash for beauty with Palmolive Soap.

Above the doorway of the Pessl Shop, across from the opera house in Vienna, may be seen crests of some of the celebrated Royal Houses to which the House of Pessl has acted as beauty advisor.

A proven formula embodying the virtues of palm and olive oils, Palmolive Soap cleanses the skin and promotes health and beauty.

This means the end of a chest cold. The marvelous, therapeutic heat of red peppers is contained in Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Made from real red peppers, it acts in 3 minutes. Get a jar at any good drug store and be sure to look for the full name—Rowles Red Pepper Rub—on the package.

THREE HELD, ONE SAYS FOURTH GAVE HIM BOGUS BONDS

Orville L. Shaner Declares $18,000 in Counterfeit Securities Came From Missing Kansas Citian.

Three men have been released on bonds of $2500 each after being questioned by police about their handling of $18,000 in counterfeit bonds of the Long-Bell Lumber Co. of Kansas City.

They are Oswald Trova, 36 years old, a spark plug manufacturer, 4117 A. St. Mary C. Steinberg & Co. Shaner, 28, a real estate dealer, residing at the Gotham Apartments, Hamilton and Enright avenues; and John F. Mathews, 29, a real estate salesman, 4500 McPherson avenue. They denied they knew the bonds, but Trova admitted he was distributing agent for the bonds here. He is said to have left St. Louis Monday. Shaner said the man asked him to market the bonds, so he (Shaner) passed some along to Trova and Mathews.

How Counterfeits Were Detected. Trova said Shaner and Mathews called on him for advice about disposing of the bonds and he referred them to one of his friends, a representative of the brokerage firm of Mark C. Steinberg & Co. Trova accepted 20 $100 bonds temporarily and pledged them with his bank as security for a loan he was negotiating. Informed later by the Steinberg Co. representative that the bonds were counterfeit, Trova recovered his pledged bonds from the bank and returned them to Shaner.

As has been told, Mathews offered 150 $100 bonds for sale to the Steinberg company, which learned the bonds were counterfeit and had him arrested Monday. The bonds were seized as evidence. Mathews told police he received the bonds last Saturday in a real estate transaction with an acquaintance named Thompson. Convinced that Mathews was an innocent dupe of a confidence man, police released him Tuesday only to take him in custody again when additional information was obtained. Mathews refused to make any further statement.

Shaner said the 20 bonds which Trova returned to him, and 10 more which he (Shaner) had held, were returned by him to the Kansas City man when Trova informed him they were counterfeit.

Long-Bell Attorney Here. Flavel Robertson of Kansas City, attorney for the Long-Bell company, arrived in St. Louis yesterday and conferred with police. "We want to get to the bottom of this," he said. Attempts to dispose of similar counterfeits have been made in Chicago.

Police presented the facts to the Circuit Attorney. They also are investigating a $1000 Chicago real estate bond found on Shaner. He said he obtained it with the others from the Kansas City man who is sought.

Senate Committee Votes Not to Interfere With Transaction.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The Senate Commerce Committee voted today not to interfere with the proposed sale by the Shipping Board of the Atlantic fleet of Government vessels to Paul W. Chapman, Inc., of New York.

The Shipping Board later formally approved the sale of Chapman for $16,300,000. Chapman's bid was for the 11 ships of the United States and American Merchant lines, including the giant liner Leviathan. Chapman proposes to build immediately two ships of the size of the Leviathan and to construct seven vessels over a period of 10 years. The bidder would pay immediately 25 per cent of the price for the Government ships. He guarantees to continue the fleet under the American flag for 10 years. With this the Government will have disposed of the prize ships of its wartime fleet.

KIEL CRITICISES
ANSWERS CHARGE

Rival Candidates for Republican Mayoralty Nomination Make Campaign Speeches.

Both Mayor-Miller and former Mayor Kiel, opponents for the Republican mayoralty nomination, made two campaign speeches last night. To a large extent, they repeated previous arguments. Kiel charging Miller's administration with extravagance and Miller denying this.

Miller was greeted at a South Side meeting by a Negro quartet singing a campaign song in which his name figured, and by considerable applause. "The boy from Joplin is glad to get such a reception," he said in response, referring to the fact that he came here from Joplin, Mo.

Kiel was welcomed by a cheer
at both meetings: "What's the matter with Kiel? He's all right.
Who says so? Everybody says so."
At his second gathering a Negro trio sang a sort of "Battle Hymn
of the (Kiel) Republicans," starting, "Yes, we're going to put him over."

Kiel's speech at a Fifth Ward Kiel Club meeting at 2106 Franklin avenue, attended by about 150 Negroes and several white persons, was punctuated by fervent cries of "That's right!" "Amen!" and
"Have mercy!" from the audience.
A. Samuel Bender, president of the club, presided. "Mr. Kiel," said Bender, "these people are your friends." A Negro woman shouted: "I want him to stay Mayor till I die."

Kiel rebukes extravagance.
Efforts of the Industrial Club
and others to bring industries here were described by Kiel, to show how more work would be provided for persons like his hearers. Civic extravagance must be prevented, to attract industries, he added. He related that the city tax rate had been at the $1.35 constitutional limit throughout Miller's four years in office but had risen to that maximum only one year of his own 12, and said that $13,000,000
more had been paid in taxes during Miller's first three years than in his last three. The Miller administration should not have spent so much, he insisted.

"You probably read something in the paper today," Kiel continued,
"referring to some graft in the street lighting contracts. In the absence of facts we have no right to draw conclusions. I sincerely hope it is not true. I would be very displeased, and sincerely hope those conditions won't be proved."
Kiel predicted that smoke would be effectually abated, even with continued use of soft coal. He said improvement of the river front
would cause new buildings to arise in the blighted area and 75 per cent of their cost would go to labor.

At both meetings, Kiel urged unregistered voters to register today, so that they may vote, and told the listeners that they should see that no one commits election frauds. At the first gathering he remarked: "Organization wins elections. You are part of a big machine and if you don't perform
the whole thing goes out of gear."

Makes Excess Expenditures.
About 200 white persons, and Negroes were at the Twenty-third Ward Citizens' Kiel-for-Mayor
Club to hear Kiel. J. N. McKelvey, Director of Public Safety under Kiel and president of the club, was chairman. Speaking of expenditures by the Miller administration in excess of bond issue appropriations, Kiel said:

"When you plan something, plan it correctly; estimate the cost and keep within that. Expenditures for these projects have increased over the amounts you voted. The men who made the estimates said $4,000,000 was enough for the courthouse but now the city is $1,- 000,000 short on that and the extra money has to come from your pockets, from general revenue."

"A complete estimate was made of what the street lights would cost. They told you and me $8,- 000,000 would do the job but it's only two-thirds finished and now we have to raise more money for
it. We have a reason and right to criticize when things are not done
according to our own dictates.
They should have told you these projects would cost more; no doubt you would have voted the extra bonds; I didn't know the money was gone until I read it in the papers."

"If they spend the rest of the bond issue in the same way, instead of $87,000,000 being enough
it will be 20 to 40 per cent short.
I don't believe this would have occurred if proper attention had been paid at the time of awarding contracts. They didn't look far enough in the future. I'm also told the convention hall is going to exceed in cost the $5,000,000 voted by maybe $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. As a contractor, I know we can build a convention hall for $5,000,000.
I built the Ambassador Theatre and you could build one three times as good for $5,000,000. The new dairy show arena is costing only $1,200,000.
"Miller boasts of a surplus in one year but the surplus was due to the fact that the banks hadn't paid taxes on their stock, but when they did pay after a court decision, $1,900,000 came in at one time instead of over two or three years, so the surplus was not due to any saving."

Mayor Deplores Personalities.
At a banquet of the St. Louis

Fruit and Produce Association at the M. A. A., with G. A. Marsh presiding Mayor Miller said he
as to observe a group of business competitors, sitting together in friendly fashion.

"I don't see why that wouldn't be possible in politics," he went true. In your business a man takes true. In your business a man talks about the merit of his product and not the demerits of his competitors. I had hoped that would be true in this campaign."

Denying Kiel's charges of extravagance Miller said the Police Department had cost $9,700,000

more in his term than in Kiel's last

Available in Three Price Ranges

FINE CAR enthusiasts who desire the supreme luxury and distinction of Packard Eight transportation have a wide choice in models and in prices.

For the famous Packard Straight-Eight, acknowledged both at home and abroad
as the finest of all fine cars, is now available in three complete and separate lines
—and in three distinct price ranges.

These three lines — the Standard Eight,
the Custom Eight and the De Luxe Eight — differ only in size, in detail of appointment and in the degree of individuality obtainable in upholstery and in color. In fundamental design and in quality of materials and craftsmanship

they are alike—finer in engineering than any cars Packard has built before. Each Packard Eight today is a "Packard" in the full sense of that significant word.

We invite you to come in and see the three new Packard lines, to learn from actual figures why it is more economical, over three or four years, to own and operate a Packard Eight than to drive a succession of lesser cars during the same period of time.

The Packard Eight is a long-lived car, providing more miles of luxurious and distinguished transportation than the average owner ever uses. When will you take the model of your choice for a trial drive?

The Packard Standard Eight is priced
from $2435 to $2835 — the Custom Eight from $3175 to $3850 — and the Eight De Luxe from $4585 to $5985 —
at the factory. Individual custom cars are also available to order on the De Luxe chassis.

If you prefer to buy out of income, you will find the Packard Payment Plan most attractive. Many take possession of their new cars without any cash outlay — and with the small monthly payments made smaller because the used car allowance exceeds the down payment on the new car.

TERRIER RESTS ON STREET CAR TRACK; TIES UP TRAFFIC

Trolley Unable to Proceed for 10 Minutes While Dog Reclines on Trestle.

Another Bruce of Scotland, this time a small black Scotch terrier, was overwhelmed with a sense of defeat when he strolled up the street car trestle west of De Baliviers avenue Sunday afternoon, and made himself comfortable on one of the ties while street car gangs changed for 10 minutes in attempting to dislodge him.

Bruce that morning for the sixth time had abandoned the comfortable home of his mistress, Miss Isolda Stimpf, 4311 University drive, and set out on an escapade. Up on the trestle Bruce decided was a good place to rest. An Olive-University street car, eastbound, approached, and the motorman struck his gong. Bruce looked around, only casually interested. The clangor continued and Bruce lost all interest. He licked his chops and rested his head between his paws. The motorman opened his front window, waved his arms and "Shooed" Bruce moved down a couple of ties. And then a few more. Finally he reached the street, where a crowd had collected.

A woman who had a dog of her own at home took him in and fed him. Monday she traced his license number, and today Bruce is back home.

KIEL CRITICISES WASTE, MILLER ANSWERS CHARGE

term, that a pay increase voted to the firemen by the people had made the increase in cost of these two departments $11,000,000 and that the cost of caring for the city's unfortunates had gone up.

During his term, Miller continued, $56,000,000 of the 1923 bond issue money was spent while only $5,000,000 or $7,000,000 had been spent previously. He predicted that the whole bond issue program could be completed in the next four years and asserted that all bond issue items were from 25 to 100 per cent finished except the northeastern rail approach to the Municipal Bridge. However, no bonds have been sold for the Union Station plaza or the Zoo aquarium, although condemnation for the plaza is pending and the aquarium plans have been drawn.

"I'm charged with extravagance," Miller declared, "but nothing has been said about anybody else. I'm only one member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment; the others are Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen. I have no selfish interest, but I want to build a greater St. Louis and I think my efforts entitle me to another term. I inherited an unsympathetic organization at City Hall and it took some time to create the efficient one I have now."

Miller's address later at a Fifteenth Ward meeting at the rear of 2929 Magnolia avenue, with City Committeeman Kayser presiding, was largely a repetition of the foregoing speech. Many employees from the Assessor's office, health, law, street and other city departments were present. City Counselor Muench also spoke.

Climbing

First, Ziegfeld picked her for his "Follies." Next, she was chosen for "Rio Rita" and now Warner Brothers will present her in the movies. Dainty Agnes Franey is climbing; helped by clever dancing and seldom equalled beauty.

Miss Franey says: "I don't believe in overlooking anything which helps add to your attractiveness. I am most particular about my hair, and so many friends compliment me on its softness and lustre that I am sure my method of caring for it is right. Nearly all the girls I know here in New York are using it now. It is so easy. All we do is put a little Danderine on our brushes each time we dress our hair. It makes my hair easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It has gotten rid of my dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so comfortable, that I don't shampoo half as often as I did before. And, best of all, it gives my hair a softer, more silky and lustreous appearance than anything I've ever found."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color, makes it fairly sparkling. Dandruff usually disappears when you use Danderine. Waven, "set" with it, stay in long. It's delicately fragrant; isn't oily downy. It's economical. The 35c bottles will last several weeks. All drug stores recommend and guarantee it.

AN EVENT THAT REAFFIRMS Nugents' Radio Supremacy

The Climax of Radio Sensations

THIS is the third of a series of Radio sensations which have been figuratively radioed from coast to coast. Every important business in these United States is familiar with the remarkable achievements of Nugents in Radio. New records have been made on these occasions from the standpoint of value-giving and results obtained.

In sales Nos. 1 and 2, we established a precedent in Radio history. We offered the highest type of instrument known to the entire nation at a tremendous saving. We quickly sold the six hundred and some odd Radios that were available for those occasions, and our customers, like Oliver Twist, came back for "more." Naturally there is a feeling of elation in our ability to announce a still greater sale of the same high-type Radios in cabinets of unusual design and construction at the same low price.

FIVE CONSIDERED FOR AGRICULTURE
POST IN CABINET

McKelvie of Nebraska, Pierce of Iowa, Campbell of Montana Are in the Running.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14.—While President-elect Hoover received callers today at his headquarters on Belle Isle, the volunteer Cabinet builders were busy guessing who will receive the agriculture portfolio.

Secretary Jardine's announcement yesterday that he will not remain in the Cabinet gave the speculators something new to work on, since friends of Hoover had heretofore predicted that the Kansas man would be retained in the official family.

Among those whose names have been suggested as available for the place are Samuel McKelvie, former Governor of Nebraska; Dante Pierce, Des Moines, farm paper publisher; Thomas Campbell, Montana wheat grower, and Senators Capper of Kansas and McNary of Oregon.

Among the callers today were Clarence M. Woolley, Washington; A. W. Shaw, Chicago, and Edward Frye Hunt, of the Department of Commerce, all of whom are members of the committee studying recent economic changes in the United States, of which Hoover is chairman.

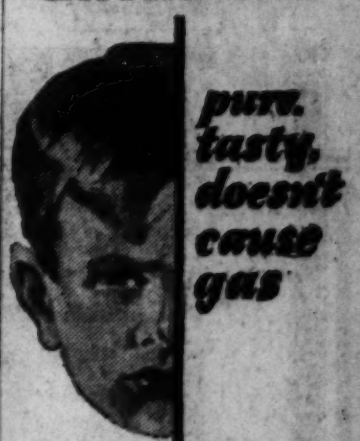

For the second time since he has been in Florida Hoover received a former Democratic candidate for the presidency. The caller was James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio, who said he dropped in to pay his respects.

After President-elect Hoover has completed his tour of the Everglades flood district, which will occupy tomorrow and Saturday, he will prepare to leave the J. C. Penney estate on Belle Isle for Washington some time Monday.

The trip into the Everglades area is to survey the need for Federal aid in flood control in the sector where more than 2000 persons were drowned in 1924 and 1925.

Hoover will leave tomorrow in the company of Gov. C. E. Carlson of Florida; Representative Reilly of Illinois, chairman of the House Flood Control Committee; Major-General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, and other state and Federal officials. The inspection tour will end Saturday. The party will spend Friday night at Clewiston, on the southern shore of Lake Okechobee.

Mrs. Hoover, who arrived last night with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Reilly of New York after their trip aboard the Rautenbach from Fort Myers, will not accompany her husband on the Okechobee trip, but will meet him at Palm Beach at the conclusion of the journey.

DRIVER FLEES FROM CAR AFTER HITTING TWO AUTOS

Son of the Owner 20 Minutes Later Reports Machine Had Been Stolen.

An automobile belonging to Hanson Ireland, 6320 Enright avenue, struck a car driven by Eugene Myers, 5928 Maple avenue, at 9:40 o'clock last night at Hamilton and Enright avenues, continued east in Enright, and struck a third car parked in front of 5894 Enright. A young man leaped out of Ireland's car and fled.

Junior Ireland, 16 years old, son of the owner of the car, reported it stolen 20 minutes after it figured in the accidents. Young Ireland explained he and a companion had been in a pool room and did not miss the car until they came out at 10 o'clock.

POLICE FIND LIQUOR CACHE

Pressing of Nail Opens Panel; Members of the police liquor squad yesterday arrested Lawrence Fiola, proprietor of a saloon at 3428 Franklin avenue, after reporting that they found a quantity of whiskey in a small room behind the bar. The entrance to the room was found when one of the detectives chanced to press a nail in the wall, causing a sliding panel to open.

INSURANCE OFFICE HELD UP, ROBBERS ESCAPE WITH $750

Five Employees in John Hancock Rooms at 393 North Euclid When Masked Men Appear.

Three young men, armed and holding handkerchiefs over their faces, held up five employees of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. at noon today in the company offices at 393 North Euclid avenue. They escaped with between $750 and $800.

In the office at the time of the robbery were Frank A. Brown, cashier; Miss Viola Rauli, a stenographer, and three clerks.

When the robbers entered one of the clerks started toward them, thinking they were customers. At his movement, the three men whipped out revolvers, raised handkerchiefs to their faces, and announced, "This is a holdup."

Two of them guarded the employees while a third rifled the open safe of yesterday's collections.

Resists Robbers, Shot in Arm. Jacob Scheer was shot in the left forearm when he resisted a holdup in his confectionery at 2629 Pendleton avenue at 10 o'clock last night.

Scheer, who is 32 years old, was behind a counter when two Negroes entered. One displayed a revolver and commanded: "Hold up your hands and give us your money."

Instead of obeying, Scheer dropped behind the counter and the Negro fired at him. The Negroes then fled without loot.

After treatment at City Hospital, Scheer returned home.

Deputy Constable Theodore Boening of Central Township and a young woman were seated in his automobile parked on a street in Pine Lawn, at 10 o'clock last night, when two men in another car pulled up alongside and displayed revolvers.

Beats Man Unconscious.

Deputy Boening, according to his report, drew his own pistol and fired at the men, but the cartridge was defective and split the barrel. He then reached over into the other car, disarmed one of the men and beat him unconscious with the man's own weapon. The second man threatened: "I've a notion to shoot that girl, whereupon Boening, according to his report, fired three times at the man, using the revolver taken from the first man. The conscious man then drove away with his unconscious companion.

When John Reinagel, Yellow taxi cab driver, tried to collect a fare of $1.45 from two men at La Salle and Thirty-ninth streets, the men held him up, took $7 and ordered him to walk a block. Reinagel walked. When he returned his taxi cab was there, but the robbers were gone.

"Can I help you," said Jack Rhodes, 4226 Gibson avenue, to a Negro woman who was moaning "God help me" and leaning against a wall at Sixteenth and Chestnut streets, last night.

Woman Rolds Him Up.

"Sure, hold up your hands," the woman replied, wheeling around and pressing what felt like a revolver against Rhodes' ribs. She escaped with $6 Rhodes described th highwaywoman as having a scar on her left cheek. Police arrested such a woman and Rhodes identified her. She denied the charge.

Blended

to suit an expert's critical taste

AMERICA'S FAVORITE COFFEE

YEARS ago a fine hotel in the Old South became famous for its superlative coffee.

Down in that land of good living, of traditional grace of hospitality, the old Maxwell House held a high place in popular favor. Travelers from all parts of the United States praised the marvelous food at the old Maxwell House and, in particular, the rich, mellow flavor of Maxwell House Coffee.

Southerners themselves boasted of it. They said no single coffee grown could taste quite so delicious. And they were right.

For the flavor of Maxwell House is a blend of many different coffee flavors, each selected for a special excellence. A Southern gentleman—an expert in coffees with a talent for flavor—first worked out this choice blend, which ever since has appealed unflinchingly to other men and women who know good food.

He spent months of patient, skilful labor combining, testing, rejecting, re-combining the "winy," heady coffees of Arabia, the "mild" coffees of Java, the "syrupy," pungent coffees of Brazil. At last his persistence was rewarded with an entirely new coffee flavor—a blend, smooth, rich, mellow, full-bodied, yet full of life and sparkle.

"The Old Colonel," as he is known to his friends, has lived to see this coffee he perfected in his youth become the favorite throughout the whole United States—pleasing more people than any other coffee ever offered for sale.

You will want your own family to enjoy this unusually delicious coffee. North, South, East or West—wherever you are, your grocer has Maxwell House Coffee—sealed in the blue-wrapped tin to preserve all its fine aroma.

AFTER-DINNER COFFEE: This should be stronger than breakfast coffee. Whether you make your coffee by the percolator or drip method, or boil it in the old-fashioned way, use one and a half times as much coffee as you would use for breakfast—that is, for after-dinner coffee, 1½ heaping tablespoons medium ground (steel cut) Maxwell House Coffee to each cup of water.

No other coffee flavor is like that of Maxwell House. Its rich mellowness, its sparkle, appeal to men and women alike, coming to the most critical palate as a new and deeply satisfying experience. North, South, East, and West—Maxwell House is accepted today as the fine coffee served in America's foremost homes—preferred by America's most famous hostesses.

FRAUD IS DENIED IN BUYING HAIR REMOVER STOCK

Rolla Lawry, Head of Hannibal Pharmacal Co. Says Style Change Reduced Demand for Product.

Stock of the Hannibal Pharmacal Co., manufacturers of "Neet," a compound for the removal of superfluous hair, rose in value with the post-war popularity of short skirts and short sleeves for women, and then dropped. Rolla Lawry, president of the company, testified in Circuit Judge Sale's court yesterday.

Lawry was defending his purchase of 62 per cent of the company's stock for $144,000, less than a month after the death of E. D. Frier, founder of the business, and his almost immediate action after becoming sole owner, in increasing the capitalization of the concern from $100,000 to $1,000,000.

Mrs. Natalie Frier, widow of the founder of "Neet," who received 42 shares of the company's stock from the estate of her husband, and her father, W. H. Ely of Center, Mo., one of the original incorporators, have charged that Lawry practiced fraud in purchasing from them for $2222 a share stock worth $18,000 a share.

Mrs. Frier testified yesterday that after the death of her husband, she was elected vice president of the company and attended three business meetings. At the first, she said, she was read several resolutions extolling the virtues of her late husband. At the second, she alleged, Lawry showed her in a two-month statement, that the concern was not making profits, and at the third, he bought her stock and 20 shares from her father—62 shares out of a total of 109.

Between the first and second meetings, she testified, several stock salesmen representing Lawry, approached her and tried to buy her stock, asserting they represented an eastern corporation. One of them, she told the court, warned her that if she did not sell, the eastern company would put the manufacturers of "Neet" out of business.

Inasmuch as the suit is an equity proceeding, there is no jury. After Mrs. Frier had testified, and after the stock salesmen had admitted cutting on her and misrepresenting the facts in the hope that they would receive a $15,000 commission, Lawry took the stand.

He declared the price he paid was reasonable because the income from the business was unreliable and dependent upon the vagaries of style, and denied any conspiracy to force the sale at a low price.

"You mean then," Judge Sale queried, "that as women's sleeves and skirts went down, your profits also went down?"

"Long sleeves and skirts caused a lot of sales resistance to our product," Lawry replied. "Hm," said the judge, "your business seems to depend entirely on whether it is the custom for women to show off their arms and legs."

Frier formulated "Neet" shortly after he left the Navy, according to testimony in the suit. At first he made it in a shed behind his home and peddled it from door to door, but as the business grew, he took in Lawry, his second cousin, as a partner. Both received stock dividends, and in addition, paid themselves salaries of $650 a week.

Ely, who was paid $44,000 for his 20 shares of stock, and who is asking for $156,000 in addition, invested $2000 in the company. His dividends up to the time he sold the stock amounted to $12,000.

For physical and mental well-being... Yeast recommends

DR. ADOLF CLUSS
noted Vienna Scientist

"Today we know yeast is a container par excellence of the vitamins which form, if we may say so, the link between food and medicaments. Yeast can be called a foodstuff, a medicament, a means of strengthening and building up the body. It not only helps nutrition but also promotes health and physical and mental well-being."

Dr. Ad. Cluss

DR. ADOLF CLUSS OF VIENNA

AN outstanding scientist in Vienna—home of science and medicine for over a century—is Dr. Adolf Cluss, recognized international authority on nutrition problems.

Professional honors have come to him from many countries. He is Professor at the Hochschule für Bodenkultur, Vienna, and a member of the International Scientific Council, International Institute of Agriculture, Rome.

Dr. Cluss, with many other world-famous scientists and physicians, points to yeast as the natural "food-medicament" for a healthy body and a happy mind.

The verdict of doctors is: 90% of our ailments start in the intestinal tract. Frequent colds, sore throat, headaches, bad skin, bad breath, "nerves," indigestion and many other complaints are sure signs of constipation and all the physical and mental misery that follows.

In a recent survey covering the United States, half the doctors reporting said they prescribed fresh yeast. Fleischmann's Yeast, the fresh food, is convenient, easy, sure protection.

Unlike dried or killed yeast, Fleischmann's Yeast contains millions of living, active yeast plants, which pass through your intestinal tract daily, combating harmful poisons, purifying the whole system. Sluggish muscles again perform their function of elimination. Your skin clears, digestion improves, your whole being reflects renewed health.

Eat three cakes daily, one before or between meals, plain or in water, cold or hot (not scalding). To get full benefit you must eat it regularly and over a sufficient period of time. Buy 2 or 3 days' supply at a time and keep in any cool, dry place. At all grocers and many leading cafeterias, soda fountains and lunch counters. Start today on the road to better health and spirits!

ARCHBISHOP GLENNON

TALKS ON FEAR OF DEATH

He Quotes Shakespeare in Ash Wednesday Sermon at Old Cathedral.

In his Ash Wednesday sermon at the Old Cathedral yesterday, Archbishop Glennon said:

"Everybody fears death. It is not the pain of dying which they fear. Physically, death is usually painless. Some say death means annihilation; they do not want to go into the eternal sleep. 'The real reason of the universal fear is embodied in Shakespeare's words: 'To die, to sleep; and in that sleep of death what dreams may come?' It is the uncertainty that 'makes cowards of us all.'"

"Do you fear death? Then live with the thought as a background that you must one day die. Prepare now for that which must surely come."

To Discuss Psychology and Health.

Miss Marguerite B. Johnston, psychologist in St. Louis public schools, will discuss the relation of psychology and health tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. building, 1411 Locust street.

GROUPS DISCUSS COMPROMISE PLAN FOR U. S. BUILDING

Interests Consider Cochran's
Suggestion for Use of Present Site if Unable to Agree on Another.

TWO U. S. OFFICIALS ARE DEADLOCKED

Chamber of Commerce Favors No Particular Location, President Says but
Wants Early Action.

Congressman John J. Cochran's suggestion that the business interests of St. Louis if unable to agree on a new site for the $4,000,000 Federal building, should join in asking the Government to place a new building on the present site at Eighth and Olive streets, was discussed today by proponents of the rival locations.

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Representative Cochran gave warning that, unless an agreement is reached, St. Louis may not get the new building for years to come.

Walter E. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was asked today whether the Chamber would take any action on Cochran's suggestion. He replied that the Chamber thus far, had interested itself in seeing that the city gets a new Federal building of adequate size and architectural merit, and of sufficient cost. The Chamber has taken no part in the discussion of a site, and he was not ready to say that any departure from this stand would be possible.

50 Groups for Plaza Site.
Circuit Judge Charles W. Rutledge, head of the Memorial Plaza Committee, supporting the Twelfth and Market street location, said that the advice to conflicting interests to get together would not apply to his group, as the Plaza supporters represent no real estate or other private interests. He plans to compile a new list of organizations which have endorsed the Plaza location—now more than 50—and will send it to the three St. Louis Congressmen.

As to the present site, Judge Rutledge said it was too valuable to be occupied by any public building.

Cochran, as told yesterday, attributed the delay in selection of a site to a deadlock between Carl T. Schuneman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and First Assistant Postmaster-General John H. Bartlett.

Bartlett, according to his statement quoted by Cochran, favored the Fourth and Chestnut streets site, with ground now owned by the Government as a nucleus. Schuneman has not expressed his first choice, but is for a site west of Broadway.

Views of Assistant Postmaster. Cochran said that Bartlett told him of his belief that the large banking interests, which favor the Fourth street site, should have consideration. Cochran said he told Bartlett that the Fourth street site would not meet general approval.

Whether the St. Louis Clearing House Association had expressed itself in favor of Fourth and Chestnut, as Bartlett understood from a banker.

The banker to whom Cochran referred was John G. Lonsdale, president of the National Bank of Commerce, who lately went to Washington and appeared before Treasury Department officials in support of the Fourth and Chestnut site. Lonsdale was head of the Clearing House Association at that time. Lonsdale is out of the city, but H. S. Hawes, vice president of the First National Bank, who is now head of the Clearing House, said that the member banks voted in favor of the Fourth-Chestnut site, and that Lonsdale was authorized to speak for them when he went to Washington.

Cochran, while not expressing a preference as to other sites, opposed the Fourth street site, saying that the property there, for which the Government paid $120,000, would not bring $120,000 at auction. He also said that private capital would not build there.

He said that the present Federal building could be demolished, and a new and monumental one placed on the foundations. If the site were sold for private business, he said, the foundations could be used, as they are back too far from the building line. He said construction of new Federal buildings here and in Kansas City at an early date would "help to relieve serious unemployment conditions in both cities."

GROUPS DISCUSS COMPROMISE PLAN FOR U. S. BUILDING

Interests Consider Cochran's
Suggestion for Use of Present Site if Unable to Agree on Another.

TWO U. S. OFFICIALS ARE DEADLOCKED

Chamber of Commerce Favors No Particular Loca-
Wants Early Action.

Congressman John J. Cochran's suggestion that the business interests of St. Louis may not let a new site for the $4,000,000 Federal building, should join in asking the Government to place a new building on the present site at Ninth and Olive streets, was dismissed today by proponents of the new locations.

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Representative Cochran was warning that, unless an agreement is reached, St. Louis may not let the new building for years to come.

Walter B. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was asked today whether the chamber would take any action on Cochran's suggestion. He replied that the chamber thus far, had interested itself in seeing that the city gets a new Federal building of adequate size and architectural merit, and of sufficient cost. The chamber has taken no part in the discussion of a site, and he was not ready to say that any departure from this stand would be possible.

Group for Plaza Site.
Chief Judge Charles W. Rutledge, head of the Memorial Plaza committee, supporting the Twelfth and Market street location, would that the advice to conflicting interests to get together would not apply to his group, as the Plaza supporters represent no real estate or other private interests. He plans to compile a new list of organizations which have endorsed the Plaza location—now more than 100—and will send it to the three U. S. Lewis Congressmen.

As to the present site, Judge Rutledge said it was too valuable to be occupied by any public building.

Cochran, as told yesterday, attributed the delay in selection of a site to a deadlock between Carl T.
Schuman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and First Assistant Postmaster-General John H. Barlett.

Barlett, according to his statement quoted by Cochran, favored the Fourth and Chestnut streets site, with ground now owned by the Government as a nucleus.
Schuman has not expressed his first choice, but is for a site west of Broadway.

Views of Assistant Postmaster.
Cochran said that Barlett told him of his belief that the large banking interests, which favor the Fourth street site, should have consideration. Cochran said he told Barlett that the Fourth street site would not meet general approval.
Cochran also said he doubted
whether the St. Louis Clearing House Association had expressed itself in favor of Fourth and Chestnut, as Barlett understood from a banker.

The banker to whom Cochran referred was James G. Deming, president of the National Bank of Commerce, who lately went to Washington and appeared before Treasury Department officials in support of the Fourth and Chestnut site. Londale was head of the Clearing House Association at that time. Londale is out of the city, but R. S. Hawes, vice president of the First National Bank, who is head of the Clearing House, said that the member banks voted in favor of the Fourth-Chestnut site, and that Londale was authorized to speak for them when he went to Washington.

Cochran, while not expressing a preference as to other sites, opposed the Fourth street site, saying that the property there, for which the Government paid $220,000, would not bring $120,000 at an auction. He also said that private capital would not build there.

He said that the present Federal building could be demolished and a new and monumental one placed on the foundations. If the site were sold for private business, he said, the foundations could not be used, as they are back too far from the building line. He said construction of new Federal buildings here and in Kansas City at an early date would, help to relieve serious unemployment conditions
in both cities.

George Rogers Clark Letters to Go on Display At Memorial Tomorrow

"They Shall Not Pass" Wrote Indian Chief in Defiance of Attack on Vincennes—Historical Society to Hear Biographer.

"THEY shall not pass," was the defiance of an Indian chief near Vincennes a century and a half before the "his ne
passeront pas" of Verdun, as St.
Louisians may see for themselves
in a George Rogers Clark collection which will go on display tomorrow at Jefferson Memorial.

A gaunt and ragged line of backwoodsmen, marching to attack a force thought to outnumber them
five to one, 150 years ago today were facing an obstacle, their leader wrote, "enough to have stopped any set of men that were not in the same temper we were."

In the dead of winter they had marched or waded 174 miles through a flooded wilderness in six days, only to be confronted by the "Little Wabash" river, swollen into one stream five miles wide and apparently impassable. Vincennes and the British stronghold
in the Mississippi Valley lay 63
long—and wet and cold—and hungry—miles beyond. "But in three days we contrived to cross," wrote Clark. Eight days more and "Hemilton, the Hair Buyer," had surrendered, and this month the heroic march whereby Clark and his starved but debonair force "gave to civilization its richest empire" is being celebrated throughout the Republic which forgot him while he lived.

To Hear Dr. J. A. James.
A story thrilling as that of the "Fennel-field" or Thermopylae lives in the 522 handwritten letters and documents which the Missouri Historical Society will display through the remainder of February. Tomorrow evening at Jefferson Memorial the society will present an address by Dr. James A.
James of Chicago, professor of American history and dean of the graduate school of Northwestern University, author of a recent biography of Gen. Clark.

Presiding will be Luther Ely
Smith, appointed by President
Coolidge to the George Rogers
Clark Sesquicentennial Commission. President Coolidge sent his regrets to the society, remarking that he would be unable even to attend the central observance of the anniversary this month at Vincennes.

"They shall not pass!" occurs in a letter written to Gen. Clark from Vincennes on April 10, 1779, by Capt. Leonard Helm. This was the sagacious, grizzled veteran who tried to defend the post with a single follower against Hamilton's 500, was taken prisoner but when Clark attacked could "amuse himself very much" inside the fort—and I believe did much damage—and could joke, besieged by Indians and confronted with every prospect of starvation or death by torment, and his food supply being reduced to "two ribs of old buffalo."

"They Shall Not Pass."
"Belts have been sent to all nations by the Chipwas, Ottawas, Urons, etc., to join them to come down and cut off the village of St. Vincent (Vincennes) for the murdering of their friends in the East," reported Capt. Helm. "They declare they would no more spare
a Frenchman than an American as they look on them as one. They also sent several belts of black wampum to the Wabash and Kickapoo to join them when called or they would strike them first."

He related that these two tribes held "a great council" and called for advice upon their chiefs, who responded: "Sit still and be quiet until we go and see our father at St. Vincent. If he gives us liberty these wicked and bad people shall never spall the road he has twice cleared for us."

"They shall know we are men and warriors who will fight in a just cause. If we let these bad people pass through our lands to stain it with the blood of the Americans and French, and we sit still, what better can they look upon us than slaves?"

"No, they shall not pass! For if they do we may expect to share
the same fate of these bad people,
and not unjustly."

"It is much easier to fight against them than the Big Knife. The Big Knife is a good and generous people. They do not want to hurt any person, but when they are imposed on there is no standing against them. So consider, my young men and warriors, and be strong!"

CONTINUES PLEA FOR GERMANY ON REPARATION PLAN

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht Still Has Floor at Session of Experts—Says Nation Can't Pay.

ENVOYS QUESTION HIM ON FINANCES

Head of Reichsbank Asserts His Country's Standard of Living Is Lower Than That of Others.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—Dr. Hjalmar
Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, still had the floor today at the meeting of the experts' Committee on Reparations. For two days the committee has listened attentively to the first German delegate's exposition of economic conditions in Germany.

One or two more sessions will be needed to allow him to complete his arguments. Then the committee will have before it the basis for its work—that is, what Germany hopes for in the way of reduction of payments prescribed in the Dawes plan, and why the nation thinks the reductions should be granted.

Definitely posed against Dr.
Schacht's contentions as to Germany's ability to pay according to the Dawes plan scale today was the report of S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations.

On this report, those differing most from the German position are taking their claims for continuation of the payment schedule or something approximating it.

Dr. Schacht in mentioning the report yesterday—the first time it has entered the discussion by name—complimented the work done by the committee. "For we have seen," he said, "that the Gilbert report is not so much in the figures as in the conclusions
to be drawn from them."

The German economic situation
continued the subject of discussion at today's meeting, the delegates of different countries posing various questions concerning Germany's trade balance and the balance of foreign payments, including reparations. The committee decided to hold no session this afternoon
so that the delegates might study statistics and arguments.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—Germany's capacity to liquidate its war obligations at the rate provided for under the Dawes plan was the subject of much verbal sparring yesterday at the meeting of the committee of experts assembled here
to settle the reparations problem.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and head of the German delegation, was subjected to questions revolving about his statement that Germany is economically too weak to continue paying the annuity of $500,000, 000 provided for under the Dawes plan.

The report of S. Parker Gilbert
Jr., agent general for reparations payments, which categorically affirmed Germany's capacity to meet these payments, was the subject of Schacht's speech Tuesday appeared to be an attempted refutation—
was mentioned directly in the conference room for the first time yesterday. One delegate raised the question of the apparent contradiction between Gilbert's report and the data presented by the German delegation.

Schacht Criticizes Report.
In answering the question, Schacht said he disagreed with its conclusions drawn from it without questioning the figures presented in it. Speaking in generalities, Schacht told his questioners that he thought the report took a too optimistic view of German prosperity.

ROME, Feb. 14.—Rome will become the cleanest capital in the world from a moral standpoint as a consequence of the signing of the concord between the Vatican and Italy.

Clerical circles, commenting upon such points of the concord as have been published, anticipate many changes in Italian life. Great stress is placed upon the purification of the Eternal City by virtue of the fact that the Pontiff's spiritual supremacy over Roman and Italian life is implied in the settlement.

"In consideration of the sacred character of Rome, the episcopal see of the Supreme Pontiff and the center of the Catholic world, the Italian Government will take care to prevent all that which may interfere with that character," one clause of the concord says.

Many Restrictions Anticipated.
Clericals outline the following consequences of this clause:
Rome will see no more scantily clad young women engaged in athletic contests yesterday at the meeting of the committee of experts assembled here
to settle the reparations problem.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president

perity.

The American experts let it be known last night that appreciable progress had been made as a result of the conversations. The questioning to which Dr. Schacht was subjected was described as in the nature of a harmonious inquiry. The spirit of compromise that prevailed at the conference table under Owen D. Young's chairmanship has removed the air of conflict from the deliberations. The French delegates share this view of the friendly tone in which the discussions have advanced, but the representatives of Great Britain have hinted that open conflict is nearer the surface than representatives of other nations assume.

The Americans are inclined to think that Young is capable of preventing the discussions from drifting into storms and will succeed in keeping alive the present spirit.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Estimates of deaths due to abnormally cold weather in Central Europe alone run as high as 300, with other thousands suffering from frostbite and kindred injuries, and a fuel shortage in prospect, particularly in Southeastern Europe.

Mines in Poland and Czechoslovakia were expected to relieve the situation, but disruption of railway traffic added those countries to the list of those hardest hit.

Rivers and sea channels over
most of Europe, save in Spain, were frozen over or choked with ice. Rome, celebrating Ash
Wednesday, had a heavy snowfall.
The Riviera was covered with snow.
In Berlin schools were closed for a week to conserve fuel.

Temperatures without precedent or lowest in 200 years in some sections were reported. Northern Scandinavia is normal and Iceland and Spitzbergen report temperatures as high as 40 degrees above zero.

Coal Depot Stormed.
In Budapest shivering men and women stormed a coal depot during the night after the Government had announced distribution of free coal at 8 s. m.

Because of the intense cold they were unwilling to wait, and they smashed doors, loading bags, baskets, boxes, even pockets with fuel.
Fifty persons were sent to hospitals after the resulting clash with police.

In Vienna, Chancellor Seipel ordered Parliament suspended for two weeks, explaining this would save five tons of coal daily. The Austrian Ministers at Prague and Warsaw made personal appeals to the rulers of Czechoslovakia and Poland for additional fuel, pointing out that Austria's supply had shrunk from 125,000 tons to 20, 000 tons.

Passenger trains were canceled or sidetracked on Czechoslovakian lines.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciations of all parties, never being to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The Southern Approach.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I am advised correctly, the Free Bridge was primarily built to eliminate any and all bridge toll charges for pedestrian, vehicular or freight traffic.

Those who are familiar with railroad rates are unable to understand just what monetary benefit, with reference to freight charges, will accrue to the public or the industries in the St. Louis district by using the so-called Southern Approach or any other approach that might be added to our Free Bridge.

Let us take for an example a carload shipment of automobiles, a commodity in which the majority of our citizens are interested. From Detroit to St. Louis, routed for delivery via the Terminal Railroad Association or the Manufacturers' Railway. The rate is $1.105 per cwt. regardless of what delivery is taken in the St. Louis-East St. Louis switching district, and no amount of bridge approaches will eliminate the river transfer charge. The same applies to all other commodities originating beyond the St. Louis-East St. Louis switching district because the river transfer charge is included in the through freight rate, and before this can be changed we must obtain the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. I am quite positive that the Alton & Southern and the Manufacturers' Railway do not intend to handle freight over the Free Bridge just for the pleasure of doing it.

As I understand it, the Southern Approach is being built with the taxpayers' money for the purpose of a connection between the Alton & Southern on the east side and the Manufacturers' Railway on the west side, which will give us a trans-shipment competitor with the Terminal Railroad Association. Surely the Terminal Railroad Association paid for the Eads and Merchants' Bridges. Why, then, should the citizens of St. Louis be led to believe that they will profit by using this Southern Approach? To me it has the appearance of a gift of a million and a half dollars of the taxpayers' money, on behalf of the present administration, to the Mellon and Busch interests, the owners of the Alton & Southern and Manufacturers' Railway.

The Meaning of "Strange Interlude." To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE spectacle of the American Theater crowded beyond standing room for the two weeks' stay of Strange Interlude might well evoke more critical comment than the highly intelligent newspaper reviewers have seen fit to give it. After a careful perusal of the lengthy notices and reviews in the daily press one would be forced to the conclusion that the play is significant for only three things: First, its length; second, its "sides"; and third, its tremendous box office success.

Needless to say the first two are mere forms or methods of dramatic expression valuable only as they may assist Mr. O'Neill in projecting himself on the minds and hearts of his audience. The third aspect of the play, its tremendous drawing power, opens up a big "Why" which really is the question. May be the answer is too difficult for the critics since it involves an appreciation of O'Neill as an artist and an understanding of his play as an artistic attempt to lay bare the mysterious motives forces in human lives.

It would be preposterous for me to try to evaluate such a tremendous personality as Eugene O'Neill. However, it is childish to account for his popularity by the fact that he deals with sex relations or that one of his plays starts at 1:30 p. m. Surely it must be obvious by this time that he is saying something through the medium of the drama that is of over-powering interest to thousands of thoughtful people in this modern world of ours. It may be that he is saying something that will be of interest to our children's children—that is something we ourselves will never know and after all it is not important, at least for us. What is important is the attitude toward the age-old problems of life which O'Neill embodies in his plays and his solution of those problems if he has any.

We can be sure of one thing. Whatever O'Neill's viewpoint or philosophy of life is, it apparently finds an echo in thousands of minds confused and baffled amid the chaotic changes of moral and social values. Cannot someone tell us what it is all about?

LEE M. CARTER.

"The Daily Press."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I see that the Public Service Co. is offering a prize for the best title for their public newspaper.
It is my opinion that the most appropriate one is the frequent rider would be "The Daily Press."

JOE SCRATCH.

GOV. CAULFIELD'S HIGH GROUND.

Gov. Caulfield is moving up to high ground in his view of his duties and responsibilities as Governor and his obligation to render service to the State, regardless of partisan claims.

The only interpretation that can be put on his Lincoln Day speech in Kansas City is notice to the politicians that he regards the interest of the people of the State as above any obligation to party, and that he will be guided by this principle in making his appointments and conducting his office. Saying that he believed in party organization and was sensible of the good work done for him and the party by the organization, he remarked that he and other Republican office holders promised to enforce the Constitution and laws of Missouri and to drive the criminal element out. He added:

No man in Missouri believes in organization more than I do, and I have demonstrated this on every occasion. But, my friends, the people of Missouri have vested in me and my party the power to maintain rigid law enforcement—law and order and protection of the homes—and I cannot base law enforcement and our solemn pledges on strictly political grounds.

The Governor cited as an illustration, in referring to the kind of appointments he would make, the police. He said: "I do not believe the police can play politics and give efficient police service. In choosing Police Commissioners I do not believe in surrendering that function to anyone."

We do not take it that Gov. Caulfield is committing himself to a nonpartisan administration. There is nothing in his speech to indicate that he will not prefer Republicans. But his utterances undoubtedly commit him to merit in making appointments. We take it that his rule will be merit first, that is, in the choice of officials who will efficiently and honestly serve the State. This is a sound rule, and persistence in it on the part of the Governor will assure a good administration, acceptable to the people and advantageous to the State, although disappointing to politicians who hold party spoils are the first concern of an administration.

A COMPROMISE SUGGESTION.

St. Louis has been unable to agree on a location for the new Federal building and this conflict of opinion has been communicated to the Government. Congressman Cochran reports that a deadlock exists between Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Schuneman and First Assistant Postmaster-General Bartlett. Bartlett has been influenced by that group which favors a downtown location, while Schuneman, though not expressing himself for any particular site, thinks the building should be placed farther west. Mr. Cochran believes the upshot may be a long delay before this much-needed structure is built.

In the meantime, he makes the compromise suggestion that the building be left where it is. There are some very sound arguments in favor of that suggestion. In respect of convenience, the present site is superior to any other that has been suggested. Located in the very heart of the business section, it can be reached with equal ease from all quarters. If it were retained, the Government's original investment in a valuable tract of land would be held intact, and no outlay would be necessary for land at high present-day prices.

The present building, of course, must give way to a modern structure. As Mr. Cochran points out, the offices could be moved temporarily while a new building goes up. That new building could be built on the present foundation which, with its deep recession from the building line, would not be available to any private purchaser. Presumably it would be a finely-designed structure of the office-building type, large enough to accommodate all the Government offices which have been compelled, because of lack of room in the present building, to rent space in other parts of town.

Several times the Post-Dispatch has made these points and others in favor of the retention of the present site, and it renews them now for consideration as a possible means of reconciling differences.

OUR TIMID YOUNG DEMOCRATS.

Since neither Jacob M. Lashly nor Tom K. Smith will run for the Democratic nomination for Mayor, though both have been urged to do so by non-political groups, we must believe that our young Democrats in St. Louis are hardly of the stuff that scorns all odds whatsoever.

Meantime, the oldsters on both sides lift the lusty shout of battle, though the people of St. Louis have little or no hope that under any of them the city will emerge from the chrysalis of machine rule and mount to its place in the sun. Messrs. Lashly and Smith ought to look up some of the heroes of history. They need to refresh their memories upon the odds against David when that intrepid youth faced Goliath. They require for pabulum the stirring story of Jack the Giant Killer, the romantic tale of what the Maid of Orleans did, and echoes of that bloody but bootless battle carried to the hosts of privilege last November by the happy warrior.

Certainly Lindbergh flew to Paris in vain, and it availed us nothing to have him name his airship the Spirit of St. Louis, when Messrs. Lashly and Smith, having behind them a thousand glorious traditions of dauntlessness, even self-sacrifice, in behalf of the people, register terror before the local Republican majority and prefer their firesides to the call of duty. We will never get rid of machine politics and the consequent blight upon the city if our young Democrats are to be like that.

Our timid young Democrats have deprived us of a great opportunity.

AFTER THE KANSAS EDITOR.

Some folks up in Wisconsin are urging that William Allen White be dropped from a committee that advises the public gratuitously as to the best book of the month. They feel that the unfairness and intolerance of Mr. White's attacks on former Gov. Smith during the late campaign disqualify him as a guide in the matter of reading.

There is no doubt that Mr. White cut a sorry figure in his back-door gossip about the Democratic candidate. There is no doubt that he disappointed many of his admirers. But we must remember that, from the minute the convention adjourns until election day, Mr. White is a partisan politician. During that period he is hardly responsible. His good sense deserts him and his ordinarily fine and wholesome courtesy is A. W. O. L. When it's all over he must, we suspect, live some humiliating hours with himself.

Between campaigns, however, the Kansas editor is something of a national asset. He has a good deal to say, first and last, and says it entertainingly and well. Concerning books, he is, we think, a competent person. He has written some good ones himself, and has, evidently, read most of the great ones. His judgment ought to be valuable.

We hope, therefore, that Mr. White, the man of letters, will continue to serve on this board of literary counsel, though as regards Mr. White, the partisan politician, we are as unrelenting as the Wisconsin folks.

A SUPERFLUOUS COMMISSION.

In a report to the Ways and Means Committee of the House the United States Chamber of Commerce suggests that the Tariff Commission be restricted to statistical research and that its present authority to recommend to the President the lowering or increasing of rates be vested in a nonpolitical board of executive rather than statistical temperament.

That the Tariff Commission has failed to meet public expectation is unfortunately true. That failure, however, cannot, in our opinion, be attributed to the advisory function which the Chamber of Commerce would transfer to another board. We doubt, too, whether the proposed transfer would improve the situation.

The failure of the Tariff Commission, it seems to us, is chargeable to President Coolidge, who, we believe, has abused his appointive power in selecting members of that board for their protectionist leanings.

The act creating the Tariff Commission contemplated a fact-finding board whose recommendation as to rates would be determined solely by the facts as found. Surely that was the spirit of the law and public opinion, we feel sure, is pretty well convinced that the spirit of the law has not been observed.

The experience is disturbing. It raises a question as to whether the theory of commission service is practicable in the face of insistent political exigency or temptation. If Mr. Coolidge, with none of the traditional features of the political boss, and apparently with no dictatorial disposition or talent, shapes Federal commissions to partisan ends, what might not be looked for from an executive of the big-stick persuasion?

What assurance can the United States Chamber of Commerce give to Congress or the public that its proposed nonpolitical board will be nonpolitical? It can give no such assurance. If the Tariff Commission can be given a partisan coloring surely a companion board can be similarly tinted.

The proposal, we are afraid, would simply create another board, which would add so much more to the Government's operating costs, without remedial results.

THEY'RE BOTH DA VINCI.

We have no desire to probe into the Strange Interlude of Ludovico. It is permissible, though, we think, to quote a reputable encyclopedia without pandering to the erotic mob that is everywhere watching the Odyssey of Nina Leeds. Harking back, then, for a moment to fifteenth-century Florence, let it be remarked that Ludovico was, in his way, an artist. Not of him was it written "how happy I could be with either were I other dear charmer away." He was happy with two of them, so far as the encyclopedia knows, and the two of them were happy with him, so far as we know.

Such unique felicity, we submit, was necessarily predicated not only on tact and understanding but on luminous impartiality. Balmac could write a volume on the thesis that Ludovico watched his step.

Anyhow, our gallant Florentine, we may be sure, never was guilty of an egregious blunder. Orchids, pearls, roadsters, all the trivia of romance were ordered by him in duplicate. Are we right? Well, then, if he commissioned Leonardo da Vinci to paint the portrait of one of them, don't we know that he also commanded the artist to paint the portrait of the other? And you may be sure, too, that he told Leonardo to do his noblest by both girls.

This bit of research clears it all up. Let that New York trial be adjourned. Let Sir Joseph Duveen and the other expert witnesses go back to their art shops and studios. The obvious truth is that the painting owned by Mrs. Hahn of Kansas City is a genuine Da Vinci; that the painting in the Louvre is also a genuine Da Vinci; and that Ludovico managed with consummate mastery a more explosive triangle than Einstein ever dreamed of.

THE ROYAL FAMILY AND POLITICS.

The difficult position of the English royal family with regard to partisan politics was illustrated recently when Premier Baldwin canceled the Prince of Wales' projected tour of South Wales. The Prince has been deeply concerned with the plight of the miners and the ostensible purpose of his tour was charitable and humanitarian. However unimpeachable and detached were the Prince's motives, the mine owners and their Tory allies took alarm as the Prince's visit to the north of England gave rise to important political and economic repercussions. It was then they prevailed upon Baldwin to call off the Prince, thus making their bad situation worse.

For the first time in many years, though without any deliberate intention on its part, an action of the royal family has become a political issue. This is far different from the private political opinions which all British sovereigns, being human, have entertained toward political affairs. Queen Victoria, for example, had a marked devotion for Disraeli, which she often displayed unofficially, and a dislike of Gladstone, but in her regal capacity, she could be nothing but dispassionate as one succeeded the other as Prime Minister.

What makes the present state of affairs particularly interesting is that the royal family, unwittingly or not, has aided the Labor party, the party of the plain people, as against the Tories, who represent British wealth and aristocracy. The point is given additional force by the fact that, though the Tories regarded with something akin to horror the accession of the Laborites to power a few years ago, King George was particularly cordial and helpful to their chieftain, Ramsay MacDonald. There has been much speculation as to whether this attitude was merely a matter of noblesse oblige, or whether the King felt a deep sympathy for the cause of the common man which MacDonald represents.

If a nation ever had a problem whose importance transcends politics, Britain has it in the distress of the coal miners. For the royal family to interest itself in this problem, regardless of the annoyance of Tory leaders, must reinforce the devotion in which it is already held by the British masses.

Score another diplomatic triumph for Ambassador Morley.

YES, WE HAVE NO NEW FEDERAL BUILDING.

Henry L. Stimson

Reported appointment of Mr. Stimson as Mr. Hoover's Secretary of State provokes much favorable comment as to his ability and qualifications, though the Courier-Journal, having in mind Mr. Stimson's part in the Nicaraguan mess, thinks the appointment may be received coldly in Latin-America.

ANOTHER ELIHU ROOT.

From The Nation.
NOT a great man, nor a showy one, but extremely able and of fine personal character is Henry L. Stimson, who appears to have been chosen by Herbert Hoover to be Secretary of State. It can be said of him that he will conduct the State Department in the spirit of Elihu Root. Of a cold personality, he often fails to give a proper understanding of himself to those who meet him. He has, however, a judicial temperament and is high-minded. If he is often too cautious, he is certainly more courageous than Mr. Hughes, and his general attitude of mind is non-partisan. Usually he is sure of his facts before acting. He was one of the best United States District Attorneys New York City has ever had; his prosecution of James Gordon Bennett for improper advertising printed in the Herald called for much courage and was crowned with success, to the benefit of the entire newspaper business. A Colonel of artillery in France during the war, and long connected with the National Guard of New York, Mr. Stimson is distinctly militaristic and is an ardent advocate of the "Simmons peace" which he has been bringing to the attention of the Secretary of War in the Taft Cabinet. He has been a statesmanlike than was Leonard Wood. Nicaragua he grappled with the facts when President Coolidge sent him there to repair the damage done by the State Department's blundering, and achieved a kind of peace, though only by maintaining a beaten President in office and buying up the arms of the bulk of the Liberal army.

A HAPPY CHOICE.

From The New York Times.
THE favorable comment upon the news that Col. Henry L. Stimson is to be Secretary of State in Mr. Hoover's Cabinet occasioned no surprise. The appointment commends itself for many reasons, both personal and political. Col. Stimson is, as nearly every Secretary of State has been, a lawyer. His professional reputation is secure. To the legal problems which always press upon the Department of State he will bring a trained mind and a finely poised character. Nobody will fear any impetuous or ill-judged action by him when he assumes the responsibility of advising Mr. Hoover in the conduct of foreign relations or on aspects of international law. Mr. Stimson's qualifications on this side of his coming official duties are known and unchallenged.

From the standpoint of party politics his selection seems peculiarly happy. For years he has stood apart from factional Republican quarrels. During the last presidential campaign he was out of the country, so that he had no part in the effort to nominate Mr. Hoover, which excited so much bitterness in so many Republican leaders. They may now the more easily think of Col. Stimson as a neutral in the combat which brought defeat to them. In New York, where he is best known, Col. Stimson is held in high esteem by most of these Republicans who give dignity to their party name. There being no Republican Senators from New York to urge the availability of Col. Stimson upon Mr. Hoover, it was done, so it is understood, chiefly by Mr. Root and ex-Secretary Hughes. Their recommendations naturally had great weight. If the Republican organization in this city and State was not consulted, at least it will smile upon this high honor paid to a New York Republican. Col. Stimson could hardly have carried with him into the State Department more flattering political credentials.

FEARS EFFECT ON LATIN-AMERICA.

From The Courier-Journal.
MR. HOOVER made his campaign on May 10 of his approval of President Coolidge's policy, and neither before nor after his election has he expressed any intimation that he means to except the Latin-American, or Nicaraguan policy. Certainly no one more personalities that policy than Mr. Stimson. He was the evangel of meddling in Nicaragua. As personal representative of President Coolidge, he stopped the Diaz-Sacasa revolution by the threat of armed force if the factions did not quit fighting and if they failed to surrender their arms to American Marines. Going beyond his own province and even that of the Chief Executive, he imposed peace by what was in effect a declaration of war, and then rammed down the throats of a free people the stipulation that American soldiers supervise their elections. The "Simmons peace" was the culmination of unwarranted intervention that caused Latin-America to view the United States with even greater suspicion and alarm than formerly.

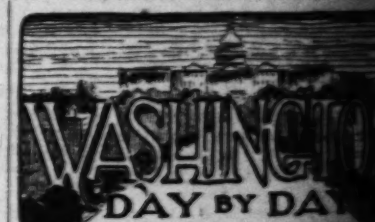

It is reasonable to assume that the appointment of Mr. Stimson would undo some of the good that may have resulted from Mr. Hoover's Latin-American trip; that it would indicate he supports the Coolidge policies of imperialism and Dollar Diplomacy.

Several weeks ago, in an interview in a Latin-American newspaper, Mr. Hoover declared, "The fears of some persons concerning supposed intervention ideas of the United States are unfounded. The facts are gradually demonstrating more clearly and more fully that in my country there prevails no policy of intervention, despite any appearance of such intervention." But President Coolidge himself would say—has said—as much.

Service as Secretary of State by one whose name is affixed to the "Simmons Peace" would hardly be regarded as consistent in an administration honestly opposed to intervention in Latin-America. The Courier-Journal does not mean to criticize this appointment. Mr. Hoover has a right to choose the official members of his family, within the approval of the Senate as to their character and qualifications. There is no question as to Mr. Stimson's character and qualifications. Both by ability and experience he is well equipped to head the State Department, and there can be no ground for any cavil at his appointment if Mr. Hoover intends to continue the Coolidge Latin-American policy.

AMO AND RENO.

From The Council Bluffs Nonpareil.
"Amo" is the Latin word meaning "I love." The opposite is expressed by the American word "Reno."

WASHINGTON, FEB. 14.

ANDREW W. MELLON, Secretary of the Treasury, has taken to walking work. He cuts down Massachusetts avenue to Scott Circle and south on Pennsylvania street.

Mr. Mellon is traffic shy. He looks at the street intersections even when he is walking with the green light and has a wary eye for drivers making head-on or hand turns.

Walking down behind Secretary Mellon the other morning, I observed that he has a lot of ground at the intersection. He hesitated flapper clerks jaywalking right against traffic or utilized the yellow caution lights to scamper across. Mr. Mellon carried a cane and with head bent low looked straight ahead with cautiously unseeing eyes. When any one was to catch his eye and bow to him he would quite grateful.

Secretary of State Kellogg walks to work from the Department morning and evening, although using his car for trips back to lunch.

HISTORIANS should take notice that the official hat holder has been selected for the Hoover inaugural day ceremony in front of the Capitol. There should be no such controversy in the future as to which raged for many years as to who should hold Lincoln's hat.

J. W. Reeder of Tipton, Ia., has been chosen to hold Mr. Hoover's silk hat when the new President is taking the oath of office. Reeder was chosen by the local committee in charge of the exercises including the induction of Mr. Hoover. He is 70 years old and cast his first vote in 1860. He voted for Lincoln in 1860 and has since then voted the Republican ticket. He will be accompanied here by two sons and will be the guest of the Capitol during his stay.

SELECTION of the Hoover inaugural Committee of black and gold is the official colors for the March 4 ceremony causing no end of dismay to the merchants of flags and bunting with a large lot of red, white and blue on their hands. Washington merchants who use their bunting from celebration to celebration are even less enthusiastic about the selection. Washington has a habit of hanging up these things from time to time. The merchants the committee has selected for the adornment of buildings has been opposed with and that a single American flag from windows would be effective and conform to the simplicity which Mr. Hoover has announced he desires.

The glass-enclosed reviewing stands on both sides of Pennsylvania avenue are under construction. They will consist of full blocks and seats will sell at $1.00 each.

The presence of the stands will mean with any possibility that the inaugural visitors will be afforded a chance to view the White House or Lafayette Square.

CANNIBAL JACK. By William Diaper. (Putnam's.)

It was during the late 40's that the Rev. James Hadfield, a South Sea missionary, came in contact with William Diaper, alias "Cannibal Jack," during a visit to the island of Mars, lying in latitude 22 south and longitude 140 east. It was not, however, the first time that the Rev. Mr. Hadfield had heard of the man, for Cannibal Jack seems then to have been known throughout the South Pacific for more than a half century. He was over 70 years of age and had made some sort of working adjustment with his early conception of a hard customer indeed, perhaps a bit harder than he was willing to admit. If Rumer may be trusted, he may even have eaten his share of "young pig" along with the natives, though this he vehemently denied.

Being a man of considerably more than average intelligence, he had realized the very remarkable nature of his truly Odyssean adventures and had filled 19 copy books with his autobiography. One of these, dog-eared and dirty, he presented to the Rev. Mr. Hadfield, and now, after 40 years, the contents of the same are first presented to the world—doubtless in the hope that the reading public may see in it another Trader Horn.

What the reading public will see in it must depend chiefly upon what it is told to see and how loudly it is told—just as in the case of the Horn book, and where there seems to be no cleverly schemed selling campaign behind the book, it is probable that the public will not see enough to make the publishers a handsome profit. Nevertheless, here is a more stirring, a more human, more, probably a more veracious one. Although every incident narrated by the old fellow has about it a convincing air of authenticity

MESSAGES SWAMP

LINDBERGH'S FIANCEE

Congratulatory Telegrams Received by Anne Morrow From All Over the World.

By the Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—Miss

Anne Morrow, whose engagement to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was announced Tuesday, has received a flood of telegrams and cable-

grams of congratulation and felici-tation which have nearly overwhelmed her.

Messages received thus far are

from friends, former classmates at

Smith College, friends of the family, and many from people whose names she has never even heard—

friends and well wishers of Lindbergh. The messages are from all parts of the world.

Ambassador Morrow himself was not spared. Mexican and American friends alike told him how much to be congratulated he was at the prospect of the trans-Atlantic aviator for a son-in-law.

In Mexico the announcement has matched the turbulent political situation in interest. Everywhere

there is the presumption that the wedding will take place in this city. Such is feeling that if it is held here it undoubtedly would be a gala ceremony at which every citizen of this capital, from lowest

to highest, would feel compelled by friendly interest and enthusiasm to take a part if no more than that of onlooker.

Further requests for information

from Ambassador Morrow and members of the family as to when

and where the ceremony will be held were met with the reply that there had been no decision and it was intimated that the young pair

themselves did not know.

Day by Day in Paris

By O. O. McIntyre

PARIS, Feb. 14.

THE streets of Paris are a poem of tone. The said, the gay, the ancient, and the modern supply melodies to the symphonic whole. At dawn there was a thin piping voice that might have come from the quiet, green hills of Provence instead of the gray cobblestoned plaza of Place Vendôme.

And through a balcony window one saw a goatherd with a dozen black and white goats rounding into rue des Petits Champs. Even along the Seine, whose banks are enveloped in almost perpetual hush, one often hears a fisherman break into song in exultation over an infrequent catch. He seems a little nutty and must be.

On the river barges, barge-men and their families add to the hum with their harsh cries, heightened by the babel of children and barking of dogs. In the student quarters one hears snatches of bright song, together with the agonizing squeak of disreputable fiddles of sidewalk beggars.

In the open markets to which every thrifty housewife, rich or poor, makes her way daily is another strident roar. Here voices raucous from long screaming above their neighbors, and the superiority of their wares. Every street echoes the jangle of belled horses and the horn-blowing of the mongers.

To those whose ears are musical, inclined there is nothing quite like that delightful section of the left bank, where Notre Dame lifts its majestic Gothic towers, on a quiet Sabbath morning. The huge bells, intoning a summons, may be heard in all the outskirts of Paris.

And as their notes die away on the still air, they will be taken up by hundreds of tiny throats across the way, for in the shadows of the church is the famed bird market of Notre Dame. For a half dozen blocks the sidewalks are filled with cages of every variety of bird.

It seems fitting it should be so, on Sundays this bird market is held so the shrill songs from many-colored warblers should lead to the Sabbath psalm of praise. And at night when the Grands boulevards cascade their merry cursive currents of life, the chatter and laughter attain a strange and deafening crescendo. Parlez! Parlez!

FOR the ladies: Hats are being worn off the forehead. The face-concealing bonnet so long a boon to irregular profiles is passe. And the prevailing combination for the spring ensemble is pink and black.

PARIS is standardizing a walking stick that seemed nothing more than a gew-gaw of the moment. The handle is of opaque glass which has in it a little electric bulb lighting to pressure. It is used to confound taxi brigands who have their meters unlighted after dark and demand ridiculous fares. Many stay-outs have been able to save the price of a cane in a few weeks.

THE Paris department store is like one of those mystic mirrored affairs at Coney Island. They are easy to enter, but try to get out! The aisles wind and twist, shoot forward and backward, and one becomes as hopelessly lost as in a jungle. The waste of time for an ordinary purchase would give an efficiency expert the camp meeting jerks. Around the doors are grouped the floor-walkers, with heads rivaling the left Smith brother, wearing frock coats, collared shirts and white bowties on puff ties. One of them leads you to the desired department, turns you over to a clerk, who, after the sale, escorts you—usually via Madrid—to the cashier's cage. Here your purchase is gravely recorded in a ponderous ledger in ink. Then you are put in charge of another guide who pilots you and your purchase to the wrapping desk, where it is done up in a package with a cute little finger loop. After this it is usually ame to hurry home, put out the cat, sprinkle the geraniums and have a gentleman with long whiskers turn down your bed. In one department store my pilot dog trotting after me kept shouting "Regardez!" Finally, exasperated, I turned, tempted to shout back: "My regards to you, too! And also to your Aunt Ida!" Then, I saw I had somehow stepped into a "rat" that looked like the fly net for a horse, and was dragging it along.

AND I must tell you about the "nobby" motor car I saw in a window on the Champs Elysees. It was made for a famous h-dress-maker. It is long, slim and trim. The outdoor front seat is for the chauffeur and footman. The rear seat is made only for two and it is completely of the delicate shade of pink, even to the tires. Something's wrong. It doesn't sound as interesting as it looked.

MAYOR DEFENDED AND ATTACKED IN RADIO SPEECHES

His Great Achievement Is Building Southern Approach to Free Bridge, Muench Asserts.

Radio listeners last night heard two speeches in the mayoralty campaign, the first made by City Counselor Muench in behalf of Mayor Miller, over station KMOX, and the second by Circuit Judge Hamilton for former Mayor Kiel, by KWK.

Muench, in arguing against a change in administration, said the re-installation of Kiel would probably mean "that the courthouse would remain unfinished and only partly used, as the Free Bridge has been; we would probably have the 'Welcome' sign back over the Market street City Hall entrance, and the lunch stand back beside the grand staircase. The present arrangement," he continued, "under which the Mayor looks after the city's business affairs, while the former Mayor continues to lend himself to drives and various forms of entertainment, is ideal and should not be disturbed."

The City Counselor told of the work of his office in relation to municipal revenue, and to the rates paid by the public for utility service. "There has never been a time," he said, "when I have had occasion to discuss any municipal problem with the head of the administration, when his reactions were not those of an honest and public-spirited official, and an official with a sound business head on him."

Explains Rise in Taxes. The Mayor, he declared, is not responsible for the tax rate. "It is evident that when we have an annual increase of about $255,000 in firemen's pay, $1,000,000 in police pay, $1,500,000 in interest on the $25,000,000 of new improvement bonds already issued, and have had to pay over $2,500,000 in three years out of current revenue for new public buildings and equipment, the tax rate was bound to go up."

He said the outstanding achievement of Mayor Miller's administration was the construction of the Municipal Bridge southern approach, after the Mayor had obtained the agreement of two roads to use the bridge. He mentioned also the Delmar viaduct construction, the progress toward building an airport, aid given to the Terminal Association in improving its yard facilities, and the vacating of streets and alleys to make possible the entrance of the Santa Fe railroad system to St. Louis.

Courthouse Deficit. Judge Hamilton, in his speech for Kiel, described the reorganizing of the city government by Mayor Miller under the 1914 charter, adopted in the first of Kiel's three administrations. The voting of the $87,000,000 bond issue in 1923, he said, was a tribute of confidence to the Mayor, then in his third term. The speaker told of the accession of Mayor Miller, in 1925, "under the most propitious conditions that ever existed in St. Louis."

In the task of building the new Courthouse, Judge Hamilton said, the Circuit Judges advised with the city authorities. "The Judges urged," he said, "that whatever plans were adopted should be within the amount authorized for erection of the courthouse. The municipal authorities gave them numerous assurances that all their contracts and dealings would be governed by that policy."

"Not until a few months ago was it finally admitted that the courthouse could not be completed with the available funds. When it became apparent that an additional bond issue would be required to complete the building, I am informed that one of the city officials in charge of the construction decided that all the money available should be used to install those features which provide for the beautification of the building. They insisted upon expending the diminishing funds for carving meaningless inscriptions on the building, to the sacrifice of the necessary furnishings thereof. They insisted upon surrounding the great columns in the first floor lobby with expensive ornamental marble, at the sacrifice of the steps, which would afford ingress and egress from the building."

"Monument to Folly." "They assumed the attitude that they would erect a monument first, and a courthouse afterwards. Monument indeed it is! And I invite every citizen to inspect it as it now stands, without steps, without connections necessary for heating it in winter, with not a bench for the Judge, a table for counsel, or chairs for the jury and witnesses—a structure of absolutely no utility and impossible of use for the purpose designed. Thus it stands, all of the money provided for its erection expended, a monument, indeed, of trust betrayed and confidence violated; a monument of administrative folly and inefficiency."

Criticizes Lighting System. He told also of the expenditure of the entire $3,000,000 bond issue fund for city lighting, and said that "still one-third of the city is wrapped in gloom illuminated only by the flickering light of gas lanterns." He said the estimate of $3,000,000 for the new lighting system had been carefully checked and should have been sufficient. "The administration provided lavishly for the downtown district," he said, "expending enormous sums for light standards which are unnecessarily high and cumbersome. Because of their great height, a large base was required, which on our narrow sidewalks acts as an absolute obstruction to pedestrian traffic. It also requires the use of very large lamps, so that the rays may reach the surface of the sidewalk, and these larger lamps consume additional current, which will add to the expense of maintenance for all time."

Foch Progressing Normally.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Feb. 14.—Marshal Foch is progressing "normally," his physicians, Drs. Helis-Boyer and Desgenettes, said after a 20-minute call this morning. His temperature was 99.2, and his pulse 50.

"MY CASE WAS SAID TO BE HOPELESS!" BUT KONJOLA WON

Happy Lady Pays Grateful Tribute to Merits of Famous Medicine: Stomach and Kidney Ailments Ended.

"Konjola saved my life!" That is, indeed, a strong endorsement for this new medicine, but this has been said by many men and women who have found this amazing compound to be the first and only medicine to help them.

MRS. G. M. COMPTON.

(Photo by V. Swach, 720 Olive St.) There is no mystery, no magic, no secret about this wonderful medicine of 32 ingredients, 23 of them juices from Nature's own roots and herbs—unless it be the fact that all of these ingredients work together on the very source of the ailment. Causes are removed; the ailing organs are cleansed and stimulated; the blood stream is enriched, and the way is paved for the quick return of new and abundant health. The deeds of this wonderful remedy are being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Walgreen Drug Store, 515 Olive street, St. Louis. This man has a message of hope for all who are ill. He makes no claims; just points out case after case wherein Konjola has proved the medicine the sufferer should have had in the first place. After all, facts are what people read. Read, then, the remarkable statement of Mrs. G. M. Compton, Box 488, R. R. No. 2, Clayton, Mo., a short distance from St. Louis, who said to the Konjola Man just last week:

"My case was said to be hopeless, and after taking Konjola I firmly believe that it saved my life. When I started to take this new medicine I was a physical wreck. I was told five times that I would not live more than a year; hundreds of treatments failed to change that attitude; medicines were an absolute waste of money. Stomach and kidney trouble, of the worst form, sapped my life and energy. Other complications made my chance for betterment seem slim, indeed. Gas bloating after every meal took all enjoyment from eating. Constant night rising deprived me of my sleep—and gave a worn-out, dragged out sensation. Life had become but a constant round of suffering. To say that I was discouraged is putting it mildly."

"I was urged to give Konjola a trial. Well, I would have tried anything, my case reached the stage where I lost hope, and it really seemed foolish to expect results after years of failure to find relief, but, as I said, I was willing to try anything. Before I had taken Konjola two weeks I knew that I could expect to be well again. At the time of this writing, Konjola is steadily and steadily making a new woman of me. It is driving out my troubles; it is strengthening and invigorating my system, giving me new health, new energy and new life. Stomach and kidney troubles have vanished. My other complications are rapidly succumbing to the powers and merits of Konjola. A brief while more and I shall be a different woman, free of health trouble, and enjoying life like other happy, healthy people. I shall never lose an opportunity to sound praise of Konjola to all who are ill."

Not at all a rare case; Konjola works quickly and thoroughly its seeming wonders to perform. What this super-medicine did for this lady it has done and is doing for countless others wherever this amazing medicine has been introduced. The Konjola Man is at the Walgreen Drug Store, 515 Olive street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this amazing medicine. Konjola is sold also at the Walgreen store in East St. Louis.

We now "irradiate" this hot breakfast food

Ultra-Violet Rays give it the health vitamin of sunlight that children need

THE health secret of sunshine! Only recently investigators have learned what it is. And now a great scientist has gone a step further. He passes it on to you by "irradiating" a famous hot breakfast food—Quaker Farina—with Ultra-Violet Light.

Vitamin "D," scientists call the secret of the sun's friendly rays. This vitamin enables the body to build strong bones and hard teeth.

Children "make progress" when they have Vitamin "D" in abundance. Bones and teeth develop as they should. Their appetite is good because they make good use of the food they eat. Lacking Vitamin "D," children are apt to have soft, undeveloped bones. Teeth are poor. Often appetite is poor. They are "always having colds." "Sun starvation," this condition is called. Authorities say 90% of children in cities suffer from it. Thus health leaders have greeted with joy the news of a new source of the sun vitamin.

Quaker Farina, irradiated with Ultra-Violet Light under the Steenbock Process, is this new source. By irradiation, it is made to contain and can pass on to you the needed Vitamin "D."

Won't you try it, please, for your children's sake? Quaker Farina is the creamy white heart of the wheat. Full of energy...

Only summer sunlight offers this way of getting Vitamin "D" an ideal hot breakfast. The new kind tastes and looks the same. But now it has an added health factor that no other hot cereal can claim! Any grocer can supply you. The price is unchanged. NOTE: All Quaker Farina is irradiated although some packages are not so marked.

UNION SEEKS HIGHER TARIFF ON LITHOGRAPHIC PAPERS

Spokesman Says This Would Reduce Unemployment Among 10,000 Skilled Workers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Increased tariffs on lithographic papers were proposed today by the House Ways and Means Committee today by Philip Bock of the Amalgamated Lithographers of America, as a means of relieving unemployment and part time employment in the industry.

Bock said unemployment had increased among the 10,000 skilled workers of the lithographic union since the present tariff was written and that workers were employed an average of only 40 weeks a year. This had caused great distress, he said, adding that the union had distributed great sums in unemployment benefits since 1920. The relief was needed, he declared, to enable the workers to compete with cheap labor in Germany, where wages were one-fifth of those in the United States.

A decrease in the duty on plain basic paper for photographic processes and an increase on this paper when it is sensitized or otherwise surface coated, was urged by Horace W. Davis of Binghamton, N. Y., on behalf of photographic manufacturers in the United States. Davis said that all manufacturers of this paper, including the independents and the Eastman Kodak Co. had agreed on the rate proposals at a meeting which terminated at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Representative Garner of Texas wanted to know if there was not a monopoly in this country in the production of the unfinished photographic paper, but Davis asked to be excused from answering. He said he was appearing in the interest of harmony in the industry, but said there was only one producer and that was the Eastman company. He added that the Eastman company used all its products and refused to sell to the independent competitors, forcing them to depend on the imported paper.

BIRGERITES TO BE TAKEN TO CHESTER PRISON SOON

MARION, Ill., Feb. 14.—Speedy removal to the State penitentiary at Chester of three former Birger

gangsters in the County Jail here under life sentences for murder, is planned by county authorities as a result of an attempted jail delivery here Monday night.

Commitment papers are being prepared and the convicts are to be taken to prison as soon as Sheriff Coleman returns from East St. Louis with Art Newman, one of the trio, who was taken there to testify as a Government witness in the trial of Mayor Marshall, McCormack and two other defendants on liquor conspiracy charges. The other two gangsters, both of whom figured in the attempted jail delivery, are Fred Wooten and Leslie Simpson. They are under life sentences for the slaying of Highway Patrolman Lory Price and his wife.

ASKS FOR DRY LEAGUE INQUIRY Resolution in Illinois House Cites Power of Society.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 14.—Investigation of the Anti-Saloon League's political activities was proposed in the Illinois House of Representatives today by Representative Joseph Trandel of Chicago.

Declaring the power of the league was becoming so great that results may be "disastrous," Trandel in a resolution asked for appointment of a committee of seven to make the investigation. He charges the league had "contributed to campaign funds, exacted pre-campaign pledges and employed the General Assembly."

WOMAN DENIES CHARGE OF KILLING 8 CHILDREN

Discrepancies in Stories of Mother and Daughter Held at St. Joseph, Mich.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Feb. 14.—Although alleging they had obtained conflicting statements from Mrs. Ethel Lewis, held on charges by her daughter that she had poisoned her infant grandson last Sunday and killed seven other children in the last five years, county authorities admitted today that four hours of questioning had failed to alter materially her denial of the daughter's accusation.

Mrs. Lewis, according to Prosecutor Wilbur N. Cunningham, admitted having placed a "sore mouth medicine" in milk given Clarence Wesley Gorham, 18 months old, who died Sunday.

"It's a lie; they're all lies," she shouted as her daughter, Mrs. Okel Gorham, accused her of not only poisoning and choking Clarence Wesley, but also of disposing of three grandchildren and four of her own children.

"It's the truth; I'm telling the truth," the daughter retorted. Asked why her daughter should accuse her wrongfully, Mrs. Lewis said: "She wants to put me over the road so she can have what I've got in the house."

The house is a two-room shack of tar paper on the outskirts of Eau Claire, with sagging doors.

It is heated occasionally by a tiny cook stove.

Mrs. Gorham, 23, in her statement said she was present Sunday morning when her mother choked Clarence Wesley, already dying. Mrs. Lewis said the child was suffering from whooping cough, but when told a physician had denied this, shrugged her shoulders and said: "Well, there was a rattling in its throat." She admitted shaking the child, but denied she had choked him.

Prosecutor Cunningham said warrants would be issued for the two women today and that a mental examination would be arranged later. He intimated no charges would be made against the two husbands, Wallace Lewis, Eau Claire junk dealer, and Herbert Gorham, iron worker of Dowagiac. Both have been held in jail here.

REPARATION GROUP LIBERAL TIPPERS BUT NOT TIPLERS

Delegates Free With Gifts to Servants But Haven't Bought a Drink at Hotel Bar.

By The Associated Press.
PARIS, Feb. 14.—Delegates to the reparations conference have made the employees about the Hotel George V., where its sessions are held, happy. The conference has entailed considerable extra work for the hotel workers and the delegates have not been slow to repay with tips. Particularly has the telephone switchboard personnel benefited.

There is just one grumbler, Luke, the barman, who says the delegates are the poorest customers he ever had, and that he has yet to serve either delegate or substitute at his bar. "It would seem," he says, "that all 14 delegates are from prohibition countries."

STATE POLICE BILL IS ABANDONED FOR ROAD PATROL PLAN

Substitute Measure Is Expected by Leaders to Meet Objections of Organized Labor.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 14.—Senators and Representatives who sponsored the bill for a State police department, prepared by Attorney-General Shartel, have virtually abandoned it because of a very general opposition in both branches of the Legislature, and it now appears that the nearest approach to a State constabulary which will have a chance of passage will be a measure creating a State highway patrol.

If present plans can be carried out, there will be reported to both branches a committee substitute for the highway patrol bill introduced at the instance of the Automobile Club of Missouri, and an effort will be made to pass it. This substitute, eliminating the features of the constabulary bill to which organized labor was unalterably opposed, and also eliminating features which would have permitted the State officers to supersede sheriffs and local officers in the enforcement of law, will give the highway patrol complete police powers on the State highways and will permit the patrolmen to make arrests on the highways when requested by any peace officer of the State or after pursuit.

Hopeful of Passage.
Even the highway patrol measure will not get through the Legislature without some opposition. Chairman McGee of the House Committee on Judiciary in which it is pending, reporting today that he was doubtful that it would receive a favorable report from the committee.

The general impression, however, is that it can be passed. Primarily designed for the purpose of patrolling the State highways, aiding in the collection of the automobile license fees and gasoline tax, protecting property of the Highway Commission and enforcing the traffic laws, the proposed substitute authorizes the patrolmen to make arrests anywhere in the State for crimes committed on the highways and to arrest on the highways any person who may be suspected of having committed a crime anywhere in the State.

The number of patrolmen at the start in the department, which would be a division under the State Highway Commission and which would be supported from the State road funds, remains to be fixed by the committee when it reports the measure. The number has been fixed tentatively at 100, but it is probable it will be reduced to 50. The State would be divided into districts and one or more patrolmen assigned to each district, equipped with motor cycles and automobiles.

Labor Not Opposed.
These men would be constantly on patrol duty. Organized labor is not opposed to the highway patrol, according to R. T. Wood, president of the Missouri Federation of Labor.

In the Senate, the patrol bill is in the Committee on Roads and Highways. The chairman, Senator McCawley, said today he expected to have a meeting of the committee within the next week to take action on it. He said he had heard of no opposition to the measure and that so far as he knew there would be no delay in reporting it favorably.

Comes the Delicious PINK* SALMON

*U. S. Government recommends PINK Salmon because of its higher protein content and lower cost as compared with practically any other animal food—also for the health-giving iodine and phosphorous content.

The Finest of Food Vacuum-Cooked • Ready-to-Serve

Tender and flavory, canned PINK Salmon comes to you right from the icy waters of the north Pacific Ocean. Here is the most delicious and nutritious sea food you ever ate—packed and vacuum-cooked so none of the rich, natural oils and delicate flavors of the fresh fish have any chance of being lost. PINK Salmon is an excellent food. It is richer in protein or muscle and tissue-building elements than most any other food you can mention of anything near equal value—and costing much more to buy. "The KING of FOOD FISH"

HEALTHFUL IODINE—U. S. Bureau of Fisheries says: "Goiter is very common in many parts of the United States, affecting in some instances over 50% of the population. Iodine, or foods rich in iodine, have been found to be very efficient in the prevention and treatment of this disease. Sea-foods are rich in this essential element. . . PINK Salmon contains more than ten times as much iodine as meat, milk, eggs, cheese, fresh water fish, or most fruits and vegetables."

MISSING RESCUE PLANE, FORCED DOWN AT SEA, SAFE

Flashed to Andros Island: Disabled in Search for Flyer Who Was Picked Up by Boat.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—J. T.
 Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, telephoned the Associated Press this morning that he had received a radio message from the amphibian Sikorsky plane, missing
 since it left Miami yesterday morning, and that the crew and plane
 were safe.

Trippe said he received his message at 5:11 o'clock this morning and that it came from Floyd S.
 Whalton, mechanic on the plane.
 Whalton reported that the airplane was forced down when it ran out of gasoline and that it floated to Red Bay at the north end of Andros Island. Whalton procured a boat there and went to Nassau where he sent his message.

 The plane left Miami to aid in the search for the plane of Stephen Calloway, who was afterwards found by a passing ferry boat.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take.
 Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
 Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities
 as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
 Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FRENCH PRESS ASSAILS VATICAN-ITALY ACCORD

Some Organs Declare Treaty
Will Give Clerical Party
More Power.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch
and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Publicity Publishing Co., Inc., New York World.
PARIS, Feb. 14.—Although Foreign Minister Aristide Briand was one of the first statesmen to telegraph congratulations to the Pope
on the settlement of the Roman question and the Foreign Office hails the event as one more element favoring international peace,
the French press is not over-pleased to see the Vatican and the Italian Government bury the hatchet.

Liberal, radically inclined and anti-clerical organs denounce the clerical party and warn the Government that the new order of things in Rome means an alliance of the "two fascisms," with the consequent danger of both clericalism and Fascism becoming more aggressive in France.

The Nationalist press, as well as the moderate newspapers, such as the Temps and the Journal Des Debats, sees a triumph for Mussolini and greatly augmented prestige and influence for Italy in world affairs. They turn to the French anti-clericals and ask:
"What have your campaigns won for us?"

The Journal Des Debats comments: "Henceforth Italy may look for support from the Vatican that will be invaluable both for the religious missions and its activity in all parts of the world to which the influence of the Holy See extends."
It accuses the "guiding school of French policy"—meaning the Liberals—of "being incapable of taking realities into account."

"If it were not blind," the newspaper continues, "it would find food for reflection in the events that have just happened. It would perceive that while it practiced its stupid anti-clerical policy the Papacy continued to be a great power, and the other powers understood what we have forgotten.
Our great progressive spirits have seen nothing, understood nothing.
The present situation only suggests
one argument to them—the church has become Fascist."

The Temps fears misunderstanding
"when it comes to making a distinction in important negotiations between the personal sovereignty of the Pope, which no one dreams of contesting, and the sovereignty of the pontificate. The papal state which seems to be defined appears somewhat like fiction."

Concordat a Step Toward World
Peace, Pope Declares.
By the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 14.—Pope Pius told a delegation of students from the Catholic University of the Sacred Heart at Milan yesterday that the Italy-Vatican accord had "given God back to Italy and Italy to God."

He said the agreement was a step in the direction of world peace and would bring legal order to Italy by replacing civil law with canon law.
He said everyone should be thankful because the sacrament of matrimony had found a place in civil legislation.

He asked his listeners to understand that he had assumed a great responsibility in sponsoring the agreement. He said the treaty needed no justification either in Italy or abroad. The Pope emphasized that he had encountered good will on the part of the Government, he said:

"There was revealed to us a man whom providence caused us to meet—a man who did not have misgivings about papal schools."
He added he regarded the concordat and indispensable condition of the agreement with Italy. His desires in that respect, he said had been "nobly and most generously accepted by the other party."

HUGHES TO NAME COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE U. S. JUDGE

Will Act as Head of New York Bar in Inquiry of Francis A. Winslow.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The Federal grand jury investigation of conditions in Bankruptcy Court today was centered on the official acts of Federal Judge Francis A. Winslow.

Another investigation was in prospect by the empowering of Charles Evans Hughes, as president of the Bar Association of New York, to appoint a special committee to conduct an inquiry into the bankruptcy situation on behalf of the association.

The action of the House Judiciary Committee in turning over to the Department of Justice the resolution of Representative La Guardia calling for investigation of the judicial acts of Judge Winslow disclosed the bankruptcy inquiry begun by Federal Attorney Tuttle had anticipated the resolution.

Judge Winslow made it known today that he was conducting his own inquiry to learn how and when the "diabolical conspiracy" against him originated. A statement to this effect was given out. The jurist said: "I have no hesitation in saying that this diabolical conspiracy will be defeated." He did not sit yesterday or today.

KILLS MAN ON SUBWAY TRAIN

Crazed Passenger Causes Panic Before Subdued.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—While a crowded express train sped through the subway today a crazed passenger stabbed a man to death and caused a panic among spectators. Joseph Mintz, 28 years old, was sitting with his brother, Abraham, when they noticed a man sitting opposite them who mumbled to himself and made strange gestures. Suddenly the man jumped to his feet, jerked out a knife and plunged it into Mintz's chest and as Mintz slumped stabbed him a second time.

Passengers jumped from their seats, striving to reach other cars.

However, before the train reached the next station, the maniac was subdued and arrested. He said he was Giuseppe Pino, 24.

Don't Neglect a Cold Now, Is Doctor's Advice

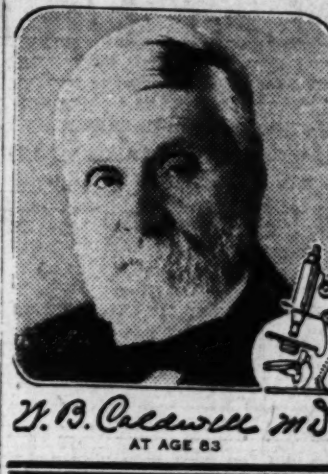

Don't neglect any cold nowadays. Colds are so weakening; and in a weakened condition, you are so susceptible to more serious troubles.

When you find you are catching cold, take care to keep the bowels open. That's the first precaution every doctor advises. That's the way to avoid the congestion which makes you feverish, achy, half-sick, miserable.

Millions know the quick way to open the bowels, keep them active, is with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin. Every second of the day someone, somewhere is going into a drug store to get a bottle of this splendid medicine, made from simple laxative herbs and pepsin by the formula Dr. Caldwell found so effective during his 47 years' medical practice.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin is mild and gentle in its action, but it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution. Containing neither narcotics or opiates, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it gladly.

TEN YEARS IN GRIP OF 'YELLOW MASK'

Pretty New York Girl Describes How She Fought Horrible Teeth Whitening After Long Search

If your teeth have a yellowish appearance you won't have to search long for the remedy. Just read what Miss A. L. Miland of New York City says:

"For years my teeth looked so yellowish. I switched from dentifrice to dentifrice without benefit. Then I was induced to try ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE and in one week it made them beautifully white."

ORPHOS can do this because it is composed of "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," which foremost dentists use for cleaning teeth. Not a pumice—but a silky-soft powder transformed into a cool, creamy tooth paste. A new formula, different from any you have ever used. Wonderful for tender gums, too! Get a tube. Try it. Today. Your nearest druggist or department store will gladly supply you.

Energy workers say

Steady Nerves

important...in choice of cigarettes

Investigation shows busy people everywhere are turning to Tareytons

NO PLACE FOR JUMPY NERVES—Swinging out on this big crane is Edward M. Bedrick, a bridge worker in Philadelphia. And you'll certainly agree that this is no place for jumpy nerves. He's a typical Tareyton smoker... when asked about cigarettes Bedrick said, "Do I ever get nervous? I'll say I don't. Sure I smoke all day—but only one kind—Tareytons. I'm not taking any chances on my nerves—a fall from here has my grave at the other end." Surely that's sound advice for the average smoker. Stick to Tareytons... smoke all you want but smoke nothing else.

ENERGY WORKERS discovered it first! Found they could smoke one and two packs a day without feeling it.

"Tareytons keep our 'nerves steady.' Fit for the hurry-up pace of modern life."

Busy people changed their brand. The news spread fast. Sales climbed. And Tareytons leaped into national popularity almost overnight.

That's the evidence recently brought to light in a nation-wide cigarette check-up.

Tareytons were really different! A smoother, better cigarette that thousands buy "to keep nerves in sound condition."

Bankers and brakemen choose Tareytons for this one reason.

Brokers and bridge workers both agreed!

"We smoke Tareytons—we must have 'Steady Nerves,'" everyone answered.

If you haven't tried Tareytons, please do. It will pay you to test them for your health's sake.

People find they can smoke two and three packs a day... and still keep nerves in fit condition.

Try them for 7 days. Smoke all you want... but smoke nothing else.

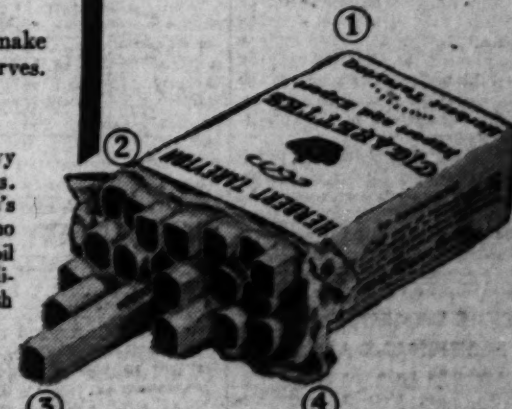

You'll like the mild, full-bodied flavor.

Then see if you don't notice a very marked improvement in the steadiness of your nerves.

Surely, you owe it to yourself to make this test, if the reward is steadier nerves.

1. Humidor Package. 2. Heavy Foil. 3. Quality Tobacco. 4. Sealed Perforated Top. That's why there's no dryness... no crushing. The extra heavy foil used in Tareyton's famous humidor package assures you a fresh full-flavored smoke down to the last cigarette.

WRITES "BEST-SELLER" NOVEL

Mary Granger is shown here writing the last chapter of her new book "Wife to Pilate." When asked about cigarettes Miss Granger said enthusiastically... "Why, I get my best ideas while smoking. Cigarettes always inspire me. But I'm careful to choose the brand that keeps my nerves in shape. I stick to Tareytons... and never change... they seem to keep me in fit condition."

GETTING READY FOR BIG TRIAL

This picture of Edward J. Darragh was snapped at his desk the night before a big trial. When asked by our interviewer about cigarettes this eminent lawyer said, "In the courtroom, if your adversary can get you nervous, he scores. You have to keep yourself controlled every minute. I smoke a lot—but always Tareytons—I'm sure of them."

GUS SONNENBERG BUTTS STASIAK INTO SUBMISSION

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14—Just when it appeared as if Stanley Stasiak, the giant Pole, would take his two hamlike hands and twist the heavyweight wrestler's championship from Gus Sonnenberg here last night, things started to happen in less than two minutes.

Stasiak was lying prone upon his back, the referee patting him on the face, Sonnenberg's championship was much intact and the band was playing "Sonny Boy."

High School Officials Meet To Adopt Baseball Schedule

By Harold Tuthill

The City High School Athletic Board will meet tomorrow afternoon to draft the schedule for the 1929 baseball season. Two weeks ago, the Board passed a ruling, whereby a new plan of competition was adopted.

The new proposal is that the first half of the season be played under the old plan, that is, every school plays every other school. Upon completion of the first round the team lowest in the standings is automatically dropped. In the event of a tie for last place, the team to remain in the race shall be selected by ballot.

Pairings will then be made so that the leading team plays the third place team and the second place team plays the fourth place team. The championship game will be between the winners of the two brackets, while third place goes to the winner of the consolation contest.

The determination of third place has become necessary since William A. Heilmich has donated a trophy to the school securing the greatest number of points in the five scholastic sports, including football, tennis, basketball, baseball and track. This is the first year the cup has been in competition, and while it has not been

WILLIAM MULDOON Real Iron Man

Life Story of the 83-year-old Athlete

By Ed Van Every, Of the New York World Sport Staff CHAPTER XLV.

A FEW weeks before William Muldoon's eightieth birthday, nature sent a warning. And soon after, can. visitations of such cruel tortures as to shake one's faith. It seemed as though he had been suddenly doomed to weakness and pain for the generous physical gifts that had been bestowed upon him in health and strength for so many years in excess of the ordinary man's life.

With the coming of the four score years he was wisely counseled that he must let down in his physical activities. His system had endured much through an unusual strenuous life and at 80 the heavy exercise that he made part of each day was too severe a strain.

His Arm Becomes Helpless.

One day while on the train to White Plains he felt a sharp twinge of pain near the base of the neck. Unconsciously he started to lift his right hand toward the back of his head. He got the hand half way up, and then suddenly the arm dropped quickly down as though bereft of all power. The hand would not move.

He got up at his station and walked steadily to the door of the train. The arm hung helplessly at his side.

There was a terrific ache in his shoulder and when he reached home he sent for his doctor. The doctor was out of town. Muldoon would consent to have no other physician. He suffered excruciating pain for three entire days. When his doctor reached him it was found he was suffering from an extreme attack of neuritis. And he had endured such pain that the right arm had twisted a full inch from its socket.

And it was the irony of fate, that a discovery for which he was known to have been responsible to the Boston Commission, was suddenly crippled. One of the principles of the Muldoon system of exercising was working up needed perspiration. With this accomplished it was then necessary to cover well and relax until the body had cooled. This connection with the Boston Commission had made it necessary for him to catch

FAVORABLE REPORT ON RAPID TRANSIT BILLS

Two Proposed Constitutional Amendments Approved by House Committee.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 14.—Two proposed constitutional amendments that are a part of the rapid transit legislative program for the City of St. Louis were reported out to the House today by Chairman Proctor of the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments, with a recommendation that they be adopted. The recommendation was voted by the committee at a brief hearing yesterday afternoon.

One of the amendments would permit issuance of bonds by municipalities to acquire or construct public utilities, to mature in 50 years. The present limit for such bonds is 20 years.

The other proposed amendment enlarges the condemnation powers of the city, to enable it to condemn property in excess of that actually required for construction of a specific project. If the additional property is necessary to carry out any general public improvement plan.

There has been no opposition to the proposed amendments within the committee, and they were voted upon after a brief hearing in which Representative O. J. Papke of St. Louis explained their purpose. Papke and Claude B. Ricketts of St. Louis introduced the rapid transit bills in the House.

A hearing upon the rapid transit enabling bill, which would enable the city to develop a rapid transit system, will be held tonight before the House Municipal Corporation Committee. The fourth bill in the program, which would authorize issuance of terminable permits to street railways and other common carriers instead of the present limited period franchises, will be taken up in the House Judiciary Committee tonight.

He also criticized the "subsidizing of bus lines" declaring they had cost the railroads 25 per cent of their passenger traffic since 1920 and his road 60 per cent because they carried passengers for 80 per

2 Meals Day, Plenty Water, Help Stomach

"Since drinking plenty of water, eating 2 good meals a day and taking Adlerika, I've had no trouble with my stomach and bowels."—C. DeForest.

Adlerika, a simple glycerin, buckthorn bark, saline compound, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and brings out foul matter you would never believe was in your system. This old matter may have poisoned you for months and caused GAS, sour stomach, headache or nervousness.

Try this simple proof: Take any medicine which acts on lower bowel only—most laxatives do. After your bowels have moved, take Adlerika and in a short time you will be astonished at how much MORE sound, old matter and GAS is brought out!

Dr. H. L. Schoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated." Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel! Just ONE spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. At leading druggists. Sold in St. Louis by Wolff-Wilson Drug Company. Send for FREE checkboard. ADLERIKA, Dept. R-96, St. Paul, Minn.
